Venice politics hum

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Politics was in the air at the Tuesday evening Venice City Council meeting as Mayor Tyrone Echols and four aldermen announced they had formed a slate of candidates for the April 1981 elections.

Incumbent aldermen seeking to retain their office on the slate are: First Ward Alderman John T. Fleig, Second Ward Alderman Hank A. Svezia, Third Ward Alderman John R. Ervin, and Fourth Ward Alderman Charles Haynes.

Echols said City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner Sr., who was absent from the Tuesday council meeting, would also be on the slate, and running for re-election. City Clerk Lloyd "Pat" Patterson said he was not running again, because he intends to move from the city when his house is sold.

Echols said they are presently thinking about who they would like and would do a good job for the city to replace Patterson.

Fleig, 53, of 209 Weber St., Venice was appointed in July 1980 to fill the seat vacated in September 1979 by former First Ward Alderman E. Harry Buente, who resigned for health reasons.

This will be Fleig's first time running for public office.

Fourth Ward Alderman Haynes, 56, of 164 Lee Wright House, will also face his first election. Haynes was appointed in May of 1979 to fill the vacancy created in the April 1979 election of former Fourth Ward Alderman Echols as the new mayor.

Haynes will have served as alderman for two years when the election takes place.

Second Ward Alderman Hank A. Svezia will be seeking re-election to his seventh consecutive four-year term on the Venice City Council.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin, seeking re-election, has served on the council for 14 years. He was first elected to a two-year term in 1967 and since has won three consecutive four year terms.

Mayor Echols is seeking re-election, having been elected in April 1979 for a two year unexpired term of former Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold.

Treasurer Gardner will face election for the first time. He was appointed to the position in June 1979, filling the unexpired term of William Griggs.

It has been reported that there will be at least one independent candidate that will run for city clerk in opposition to the slate formed by Mayor Echols.

The candidate, who asked to remain anonymous, told the Press-Record he expects to announce his candidacy within the next two weeks.

Expect appointment of transit board at county meet Dec. 17

Newly re-elected Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer is expected to appoint a new transit district board for Madison County during the county board's next meeting Dec. 17.

The county board voted at its last meeting Nov. 26, to create a three-man transit board with the authority to impose up to a one-fourth cent sales tax to help fund public transit here.

Initially, funds raised locally would go to the Bi-State Transit Agency to keep buses running here, but the transit board also will be charged with exploring other ways to provide public transportation in the county, possibly by using the funds generated by the local and the state sales taxes to set up a county bus district.

In its action Nov. 26, the county also encouraged the state to give all of its transit subsidies to the county mass transit district, rather than to Bi-State, after Dec. 31, 1981. In that way, the county can have full control over routes and times.

In a separate motion, the board voted to recommend that the General Assembly pass a law allowing areas to de-annex from transit districts, if they will not receive bus or public transportation services.

Bi-State threatened to sharply curtail bus service to Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties Jan. 1, unless local transit districts were created to help fund the Bi-State system. Madison County is the only county which has reacted, thus far, to what some county board members are terming "a threat."

The threat angered some Madison County Board members, who said they feel every effort should be made to have an alternative bus system here by Jan. 1, 1982, rather than continuing to use Bi-State.

The Monroe County Board of Commissioners also was to have acted Monday on a proposal to establish a similar transit district, but the board decided to table action and give it additional consideration.

St. Clair County plans to use "brinkmanship" in reaching its decision on whether to create a separate transit district, delaying action until the Dec. 29 meeting, three days before bus service there is to be drastically curtailed.

Outgoing St. Clair County Board Chairman Victor P. Carey, who supported creating such a district, appointed a county board committee, headed by Darius Monken of O'Fallon to study the transit question and to make a recommendation to the board.

St. Clair County mayors and township supervisors are to meet today, at the request of the new county board chairman Jerry Costello and Monken to discuss the issue and acquaint county officials of the feelings of other county residents on the bus issue.

In Madison County, it will be up to Hagnauer—who was re-elected Monday to his fifth consecutive two-year term as county board chairman—to appoint a three-member transit board, comprised of one mayor, one township supervisor and one county board member, or his designee. The county board will then have to concur in the appointments.

Believed in the running for the mayor's slot are Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, who already has announced that he has asked for the appointment, and Mayor Gene Brombolich of Collinsville, who has been active in the transit question since the funding crisis began.

GC home demolition plan launched; four cases filed

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

"An entirely new system" for forcing the owners of dilapidated buildings to repair or demolish them quickly is being used by the city, and it seems to be working, aldermen were told at Tuesday night's city council meeting. Four ordinances calling for the demolition of structures were passed by the council and the aldermen were told that at least two others will be submitted at the next meeting Dec. 16, unless the owners agree to start work on those properties immediately.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, who assumed the supervision of the building inspection division Aug. 25, told the council, "This is an entirely new system and we are trying to get it off the ground."

He said Assistant City Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. is preparing the demolition ordinances and is optimistic they can be taken quickly through the courts, so that court orders demanding immediate repair of demolition of structures can be issued within about 60 days after the city council first passes the demolition ordinances.

The new procedure involves contacting the owner of a dilapidated building and notifying him that a demolition ordinance will be passed by the city, unless he takes immediate steps to repair or raze the property.

Once the council has passed a demolition ordinance, the owner is told he has only 15 days to begin repairs or court order to have the structure razed.

If a court order is issued, it gives the owner 30 days to demolish or repair the structure. After 30 days, the city may raze the structure, according to law. Demolition ordinances passed by the

Delay on Depot sites

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Pessimism is developing here due to the federal government's reversal of plans to make extensive Army installation property available for local economic development, yesterday's prayer breakfast gathering was told. But there is hope of action this month to free part of the surplus land and buildings, perhaps enabling the cities of Granite City and Madison to proceed with plans for warehousing and light manufacturing leases, Mayors Paul Schuler and Mike Sasyk said. The cities' goal is the creation of several hundred local jobs.

The U. S. has rejected Tri-City Port hopes of developing a coal blending complex, but a high-ranking official of the General Services Administration has agreed to review all the Depot area property plans within a few days, Port General Manager Carl Hanft related.

A factor in Uncle Sam's reversal and delays is the increased attention to national defense needs and the stockpiling of strategic materials, the breakfast group was told at Charlie's Restaurant. However, local officials doubt that the former Engineer Corps depot is the best location for such stockpiles, it was noted.

While the mayors think it is likely that some warehouses and land will be offered to the two municipalities, the amount could be crucial in determining financial feasibility; it is essential that such developments generate "enough rent to pay revenue bond principal and interest, the gathering was told.

Yearly debt requirements were estimated at $400,000 if desired sites are bought from the U. S.

Larry Dew presided at the Rotary-sponsored meeting and Carl Mathias moderated the discussion. The Rev. Louis Frick offered prayer.

All three governmental entities have

Robber gets $746 at A&P store here

A robber wearing a ski mask over his face robbed the A&P Supermarket at 2016 Madison Ave., of $746 at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

The man robbed both the office and one of the checkout lanes, holding a hand in his pocket as though he had a weapon. No weapon was actually displayed, according to store employees.

According to the two victims, the man, who was about 25 to 30 years old, walked into the east entrance of the store carrying a paper bag in one hand and the ski mask in the other. As soon as he entered, he put the ski mask over his head, walked to the office area, where an employee was counting money. He lifted the paper bag over the glass around the office and said, "Fill it up lady," police were told.

She complied and placed an undetermined amount of money from the cash drawer in the bag. She noted he held his right hand down by his waist, as though he may have been hiding a gun.

When the man grabbed the bag and left the office area, he went between the express checkout and the first regular checkout lane and announced to the clerk in the checkout lane, "This is a holdup."

He ordered her to put all the money from the cash register in the same bag as the money from the office, police were told.

The clerk said she was frightened and

Fresh Christmas trees last longer

By RON CORNWELL
Extension Farm Adviser
A fresh Christmas tree will remain fresh and fragrant through the Christmas season if you will take care of it. A dried out tree will become a fire hazard in a short period of time. To insure a fresh tree, cut your own Christmas tree from a local tree farm. If you cannot do this, purchase a tree as early as possible to insure greater freshness. The key to keeping a Christmas tree fresh is to insure the tree doesn't dry out. To do this, it is important that the base of the tree be kept in water from the first day of purchase. If a tree has stood for a period of time in a sales lot, the pores in the base of the tree through which water is taken up will become plugged. To renew the water uptake ability of the tree, a new cut should be made at right angle to the base of the tree removing about two inches of the trunk.

There are now awaiting the arrival of fresh milk samples to test for aflatoxin.

The Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service just released their 1980 annual summary of Crop Production in Illinois. These figures reflect the 1979 crop.

In 1979, Madison County had 73,000 acres of corn, 132,500 acres of soybeans, 55,000 acres of wheat, 16,700 acres of hay, 1,500 acres of grain sorghum, and 800 acres of oats.

In 1979, the average crop yields included 116 bu. on corn, 37 bu. on soybeans, 48 bu. on wheat, 46 bu. on oats, 70 bu. on grain sorghum and 2.95 tons per acre on hay. The 1980 crop yields will not be published by the crop reporting service until later. Because of weather conditions, the 1980 yields will be considerably below the 1979 yields.

A statewide survey shows the five most troublesome weeds in Illinois overall in 1979-80 were: foxtail, annual morning glory, velvetleaf, fall panicum and smartweed.

The survey indicated the five worst broadleaf weeds were: annual morning glory, velvetleaf, smartweed, cocklebur and Jimson weed. The worst perennial weeds were: yellow nutsedge, common milkweed, field bindweed, Canada thistle and Johnsongrass.

Pack 22 November meeting

Cub Scout Pack 22, sponsored by Frohardt School PTA, had awards ceremonies, and pantomime skits as its main attractions at the November pack meeting. Den 1 cubs, led by Stan Hoffman, Bill Cathey, Jeff Fasick, Chris Hoffman, Bryan Yates, Mike Bauer, Don Manlove, Chris Michaels, Andy Popovsky and Kelly Timmons opened the meeting with the presentation of the colors and the pledge of allegiance. They were then inducted into Pack 22.

Cub Jeff Fasick, representing the boys, Jeanette Manlove, representing the parents, and Stan Hoffman, representing the Cub Scout organization, each lit a candle to symbolize the interaction of the cubs, parents, and the scout organization to the development of the boys into adults.

Den 2 cubs, Wilbert Abbott, Eric Kuenkler, Mike McConnell, and Scott Moore were presented with their 2-year service pins. Escorted to the stage was assistant den leader, Eva Abbott and Webelos leader Lee Winn. The cubs then came forward with their parents, who took off their son's cub scout neckerchief. Cubmaster Jim Colp presented the parents with the Webelos colors and the parents pinned them on their son's uniform. Lee Winn, then presented the new Webelos with their Webelos neckerchief. New Webelos are, Wilbert Abbott, Eric Kuenkler, Mike McConnell, and Scott Moore. Webelos Wilbert Abbott, Aaron Colp, Joey Hinnen, Eric Kuenkler, Mike McConnell, Dave Monphard, Scott Moore, Rich Sykes, Jerry Wheat, and Dennis Winn presented pantomime skits for the pack's entertainment. Wilbert Abbott and Dave Monphard won a package of balloons.

Committee Chairman Pam Winn announced that for a fund raiser Pack 22 cubs would sell Christmas candles. She also announced that there would be a first, second, and third place prizes for the cubs that are the top three sellers.

Refreshments were served by Den 1 parents. During the weekend Webelos Cub Scouts went on a 14-mile hike. They hiked on the Madison County Nature Trail and by completing the trail, the scouts earned a special "Madison County Nature and Bike Trail" emblem. Those participating were Wilbert Abbott, Aaron Colp, Joey Hinnen, Mike McConnell, Dave Monphard, Todd Smallie, and Dennis Winn, special guest, Jeff Winn. Webelos leader Lee Winn and Cubmaster Jim Colp accompanied the scouts.

IP initiates program to locate underground lines

A new program for locating underground utility lines will be available to 26 Southern Illinois counties beginning Dec. 1.

Homeowners, companies or governmental agencies planning to dig or excavate can locate the lines of all participating utilities by calling the toll-free telephone number 1-800-892-0122.

The Joint Utility Locating Information for Excavators (JULIE) corporation will notify participating electric, natural gas, telephone and water utilities that might have underground lines in the affected area. The utilities will then mark the area to indicate locations of their respective lines before digging begins. IP and other utilities regulated by the Illinois Commerce Commission are participating in the JULIE program.

The southeastern counties included in the JULIE program effective Dec. 1 are Marion, Jefferson, Wayne, Edwards, Wabash, Franklin, Hamilton, White, Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Johnson, Pope and Hardin. Southwestern counties are Madison, St. Clair, Clinton, Monroe, Washington, Randolph, Perry, Jackson, Union, Alexander, Pulaski and Massac.

The one-call locating service eliminates the need for persons to call each utility individually. By using the service, persons planning to dig can avoid two problems: disruption of utility service which could result if utility lines are damaged and a bill for costs to repair damaged lines.

Contractors planning excavations, blasting or demolition activities, state and local government work crews, and homeowners who plan to plant shrubbery and do other underground work in their yards are urged to call the JULIE number at least 48 hours before beginning those activities. Weekends cannot be included in that 48-hour period. The JULIE number can be used 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Persons calling should be prepared to provide some information about the location, including the county and township names and the section and quarter section numbers.

The Dec. 1 expansion of JULIE in Southern Illinois is the last phase of a service launched in the northeastern section of the state in 1978 and gradually throughout the rest of the state.

City may offer help to replace damaged trees

Granite City may offer the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society (DNRS) money to help replace nine trees cut down by vandals last week, it was suggested at Tuesday night's city council meeting.

Mayor Paul Schuler noted that the city has had about $5,000 budgeted for beautification projects for several years, which has never been spent and he suggested that the aldermen consider giving some money to the DNRS, which has planted about 100 trees in the area immediately north of the downtown business district.

Schuler noted that the trees destroyed, including red maples and crabapples, cost nearly $20 each. "The person who did that just couldn't have known what he was doing," the mayor contended.

The idea of the city offering funds to DNRS was referred to the council's rehabilitation committee for study and a recommendation. Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward commented, "I don't know where we could spend any money any better."

Historical site study

A grant of $14,978 has been awarded by the Illinois Department of Conservation to the SIUE anthropology department. William Woods, (sailing lecturer and principal investigator for archeological contracts at SIUE, will use the grant to investigate several historical sites owned by the state.

Woods will take soil samples and run tests to find out the location of structures, determine what activities took place at the site, and make maps of his findings.

Sites to be investigated include the Jarrot Mansion at Cahokia, the two original forts at Fort de Chartres, the Lincoln log cabin and Fort Kaskaskia.

After completing his investigations, Woods will write a report and submit it to the Department of Conservation. The report will be used for interpretative and management decisions at the various sites.

Tools are practical presents

By CATHY R. MAUCK
County Extension Adviser

With prices still spiraling upwards, a number of holiday gift shoppers are seeking practical presents this year in their battle against the 1980 version of the Grinch, otherwise known as inflation.

If you're among those on the lookout for practical rather than peripheral gift ideas consider stuffing stockings with tools this year.

A set of basic tools is essential for most people today. We all need to be able to put up drapery rods, nail boards together to make those inexpensive bookcases, fix a loose door knob, assemble knockdown furniture or even construct some basic built-ins.

With a set of simple tools, homeowners and apartment dwellers alike can avoid hiring someone else to do such tasks or simply doing without until they can afford to hire someone.

The use of hand tools dates back 600,000 to 700,000 years, when man first emerged as a tool-using animal.

Of course, those first tools were pretty clumsy. They might have consisted of a round stone with a chipped indentation for handholds — an accurate description of the first hammers — or a piece of flint chipped roughly in the shape of a knife.

Today, after such inauspicious beginnings, the array of tools available can be baffling to someone unfamiliar with shopping the racks and shelves of local hardware stores.

Remember that a good set of tools usually takes a number of years to collect.

Start out by buying basic tools that the gift recipient is sure to need no matter what tasks must be performed. Shop for simple items such as hammers, screwdrivers, pliers and electric drills rather than tools needed for more elaborate jobs.

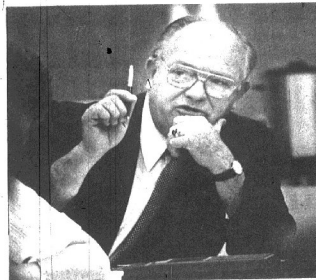

But if you know the person whom you're shopping for already has the basics, think about adding more sophisticated tools, like a router, a table saw or a lathe.

Buying tools really is not much different than purchasing other, perhaps more-familiar equipment. You'll want to buy the best you can afford for the jobs you or the recipient is most likely to be doing. Good tools can last a lifetime when used and cared for properly.

Comparison shop for tools to find the best prices as well as the best features and warranties.

And don't be afraid to ask questions. A knowledgeable clerk at a reliable retail store can help you make the best selection — one that both you and the recipient will be pleased with.

Sanitary district elects Greathouse

Walter "Shang" Greathouse of Granite City was elected president of the Metro-East Sanitary District in a reorganization meeting here Monday.

Greathouse succeeds Russell Robinson, also of Granite City, who has served four one-year terms as president of the board of trustees.

The board elected Robinson as vice-president. He succeeds Omar Brumitt of Cahokia. Other board members are John Erhardt of Washington Park and David Bergfeld of Granite City.

Only a president and vice-president are elected by the board of trustees which serve the bi-county area of parts of St. Clair and Madison counties.

The Madison County sector includes Granite City, Venice and Nameoki Townships and a part of Chouteau Township.

The district has been under control of Madison County members since 1976 when Madison County's assessed valuation exceeded that of St. Clair County. Prior to that time, the sanitary district was under control of St. Clair County board members since it was organized as the East Side Levee and Sanitary District in 1907.

In a meeting Tuesday morning, the newly organized board held a session with the Operating Engineers local, but no solution to union requests has yet been completed.

Indecency alleged

Roger C. Starks, 26, O'Fallon, was arrested at 5:25 p.m. Monday and was charged with public indecency and resisting arrest.

Witnesses alleged that a man got out of a car in the 2200 block of Alexander Avenue, near Edwardsville Road, removed his trousers, ran nude from the waist down around the auto once, put his pants on again, got back in the car and left north on Nameoki Road at a high rate of speed.

A description of the auto was radioed to police and officers alleged seeing a car matching that description turn from Nameoki Road east onto East 24th Street. It stopped in a driveway in the 2900 block of East 24th Street.

Police found Starks, fully clothed, in the auto and questioned him. He said he was visiting a friend and denied being involved in the incident.

Police took his name and left, pending additional investigation. A short time later, the owner of the house at which Starks' auto stopped telephoned police and said Starks had just admitted having taken off his trousers and running around his car.

Officers returned and found Starks in his auto.

stalled in the middle of East 24th Street. They talked to the occupant of the house, who alleged Starks, who was a stranger, knocked at the man's door, told the occupant police had just left and admitted having run around the auto without his trousers.

Starks also allegedly said he was a wanted man. The occupant told him to leave and he returned to his car, backed into the street and stalled the engine, police were told.

Officers told Starks he was under arrest and alleged he pulled away and shoved officers. Force was used to handcuff him, it was reported.

At the police station, he allegedly became abusive toward officers and resisted the booking procedure. Force was again used to get him in a jail cell, police said.

'Julie' locates phone cables for diggers

Diggers dig Julie, and Julie is expanding. Julie (Joint Utility Locating Information for Excavators) is a one-call computerized service maintained by Illinois Bell and other utilities. It helps diggers get information on digging without damaging utility facilities or disrupting utility service.

Julie is expanding to 26 counties in southern Illinois on Dec. 1, according to Roy Wilson, Julie coordinator for Illinois Bell. "Julie will help reduce the type of digging accidents that knock out utility service to thousands of customers each year," Wilson said.

This will be the final phase in a gradual expansion of Julie since 1977. Julie now serves all Illinois counties outside the Chicago city limits. Chicago has its own utility locating service.

The 26 counties newly served by Julie beginning Dec. 1 are Madison, St. Clair, Clinton, Marion, Monroe, Washington, Randolph, Perry, Jefferson, Franklin, Jackson, Williamson, Union, Wayne, Edwards, Wabash, White, Saline, Hamilton, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Massac, Johnson, Alexander and Pulaski.

Anyone planning to dig in any county in Illinois can call 1-800-892-0123. One call will provide information on the location of telephone, electric, gas, water and sewer facilities. Julie is for use by anyone planning digging activities.

HOUSE RANSACKED
Glasses in a door was broken to gain entry to the home of James Moore, 2811 Benton St. It was discovered last week. The house was ransacked. Known missing are several prescription pills, two electric drills worth $89, two watches worth a total of $300, diamond cufflinks worth $50, a $40 power saw and a set of including contractors, farmers and homeowners. Wilson said the company has more than 46 thousand miles of buried cable and approximately 1.9 million miles of underground service wires leading to homes statewide.

"Diggers cost the company more than three-quarters of a million dollars a year for repairs," Wilson said. "In some cases, we can bill the digger and recover the cost of repairs, but the inconvenience to telephone users can't ever be recovered."

Diggers should call at least 48 hours before they intend to start digging, Wilson said. This gives the utilities time to set up the necessary data and, if necessary, get to the site before digging starts.

Faith Holsinger, president, her daughter, Marcy Holsinger, and Joyce Curran. The fund raising event will be held Saturday, Dec. 6 at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., from 9 to 11 a.m. A stage show will be presented at 9:30 a.m. and Santa is due to arrive at 10:15 a.m.

Restaffing state's attorney's office

The new Madison County State's Attorney, Donald Weber, was sworn in Monday and has begun staffing his office with former county prosecutors. Weber narrowly defeated incumbent Nicholas G. Byron last month to win the job.

Former Madison County State's Attorney Roland Griffith of Alton, a Republican who served one term as state's attorney, will handle misdemeanor lockets parttime in the Alton-East Alton-Wood River area.

Marshall "Zek" Smith will return to his former role as legal advisor to the county board and county offices. Weber announced. He also will handle workmen's compensation cases involving county employees.

He and Rod Pitts, a former assistant state's attorney, will operate the civil division of Weber's office, Weber said.

Mrs. Stephanie Robbins, who received wide acclaim for her rape prosecution record under Byron, will return to handle misdemeanor, juvenile and some felony cases. Both Mrs. Robbins and Weber were fired by Byron when she was elected to the Edwardsville City Council and he was elected a city commissioner in Collinsville.

Thomas Long of Godfrey has been appointed by Weber to handle tax cases, and white collar crime," and Marvin Darling and Virginia Tullison will handle administrative tasks, according to Weber to spend more time prosecuting cases.

Darling is a Collinsville City employee and Miss Tullison has worked years in newspapers and public relations.

torney's office when Weber was installed are Deputy Administrator Dewey Van Dyke and assistant state's attorneys Dick Allen of Granite City, Lawrence Keshner, Ted Diaz, Don Smith, Mrs. Susan Jensen and Michael Thompson.

"The broom sweeps clean," Weber is quoted as saying.

Mrs. Jensen's husband, Keith Jensen, has been invited to stay on with Weber and has been granted several days to consider the offer, it was announced.

Other staff changes are being considered, Weber announced.

Weber said he intends to staff his office principally with part-time employees, most of whom are successful attorneys, since it is difficult to get quality full-time attorneys for the pay the state offers.

Probation in shooting

Following dismissal of a murder attempt charge Sept. 15, Associate Judge Philip J. Ruzick sentenced Tommie M. Bennett, 35, in late November to three-year probation for aggravated battery.

The offense occurred in July. Both charges had been filed by the sheriff department.

Bennett, who resides at 204 Carver, Eagle Park Acres, allegedly shot George Lott, 41, Madison, in the face with a .38-caliber revolver. Bennett said he had been struck with a brick during a disagreement in the 200 block of Terry Street, Eagle Park Acres.

Burglary charged

Randy Lynn Hendrix, 22, of 2122 Lee Ave., was charged with burglary in an informational document issued by the Madison County state's attorney's office Monday.

He allegedly broke into the home of Odessa Nichailidis, 2560 Edison Ave., Friday night and removed items valued at approximately $10,000.

A witness saw two young men walking on the sidewalk carrying a large number of items and get into a car. The witness obtained the license number of the car and gave it to police.

Officers checked the license number and found it belonged to a member of the Coleman family. They then obtained a search warrant from Circuit Judge A.A. Mateosian and alleged recovering most of the stolen items from the home.

Items taken included $955 cash, a piggy bank and coins, two Persian rugs worth $1,700, a corporate seal, three floor runners, an antique clock, two vases, four gold lamps worth $2,400, a stereo worth $1,400, a turntable and cover, albums and tapes, a number of silver items including serving trays, a pitcher, a champagne server and a flower holder, and stainless steel tableware, six coats worth $1,800, clothing, shoes, jewelry and makeup.

Another youth was taken into custody with Hendrix, but was released at 4:10 p.m. Monday, without being charged.

Arrested after vehicle damages, tree and lawn

Donna M. Burke, 21, of 2212 Dawn Place was charged with reckless driving and failure to give auto accident information at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday after her westbound car allegedly veered south and hit a fire tree in the Petras family's yard at 2542 Pontoon Road. The auto is alleged to have backed up and then moved eastward, damaging that lawn and the adjacent lawn of the Keck family at 2546 Pontoon Road. The vehicle then is said to have gone west on Pontoon, south on Richmond Road and west on Richmond Avenue.

Released upon posting her driver license as bond at 3:10 a.m., the motorist was arrested at the Granite City police station at 3:20 a.m. Wednesday on a disorderly conduct charge filed by police.

Reporting head, arm and leg pains at 5:50 a.m., she was taken to a hospital emergency room and then was returned to jail at 6:25 a.m. yesterday.

YEAR OF PROBATION
Associate Judge John W. Day has sentenced Randolph Vancil, 29, of 1834 Second St., Madison, to one year of probation for a Sept. 7 attempted burglary.

10 years for rape

A ten-year prison term has been ordered by Associate Judge Philip J. Rarick for David L. Ely, 26, of 774a Old Alton Road, on an Aug. 16 rape case. The charge was filed by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

A charge of indecent liberties with a child, filed as a result of the same attack, was dismissed by the judge. A 15-year-old Mitchell girl was raped under the Interstate 270 overpass near Old Alton Road and Ely was arrested at his home four days later.

The victim had been walking along Caroline Drive when a man on a bicycle stopped and forced her at knifepoint to ride on the bicycle's handlebars. He took her to the overpass area.

When he left momentarily, she was able to escape by running toward a nearby home, and then was treated at a hospital.

HEADED TO CITY HALL. Mr. and Mrs. William Gaumer, 2572 Waterman Ave., watches Monday as a 22-foot balsam pine tree is loaded onto a city dump truck. The tree was cut from the couple's front yard to be used as the official Christmas tree at the Granite City Hall. The Gaumers planted the tree 17 years ago and now plan to replace it with another tree. Moving the tree to the city hall was quite a chore for the workers, but they did get it there where it is being decorated this week.

NAMED IN WARRANTS. Arrested at 6:40 p.m. Tuesday on a warrant alleging driving with an improper muffler and two warrants charging driving while his license was suspended, John Amtmann, 19, of 2394 Glen Drive was held pending scheduling of a court appearance.

Weber salary to be $50,500

The salary of new state's attorney Don Weber was set at $50,500 per year for the next four years by the Madison County board last week. The board also set the salary of Supervisor of Assessments James Barton at $25,680 in 1981, $27,480 in 1982, $29,405 in 1983, and $31,465 in 1984. A move to reconsider the salaries approved last month for other county officials failed.

PROPERTY DAMAGED

Jim Brawley, 216 Briarwood Drive, reported at 10:45 a.m. Saturday he had discovered the front storm door, front picture window, storm windows and two windows on a van parked in his driveway had been damaged by BB holes. Earlier in the day he broke up a fight among several boys in his front yard and one boy had allegedly threatened to return. Brawley said, but he did not know any of the youngsters.

Venice settles fire-call issue

By MICK STRANGE

The Venice City Council and the Venice Township Board came to agreement on fire protection to Eagle Park Acres, Tri-City Regional Port Authority, and the Benjamin addition Tuesday at the Venice city council meeting.

The township agreed to pay the city, within six months, approximately $14,500 for fire calls made in 1979 and 1980.

Nick D. Vasileff, attorney for the Venice Township Board, further said that the township, if billed monthly, within a 30-day period from receipt of a bill.

"Although rather feeble, the township has made an attempt to pay. However, I would like a firm commitment on the manner of payment of the past due amount and future fire call payments."

"What you are saying now is that the past due amount will be paid in full in the next six months. I don't want another argument and I sure don't want to hear all this rhetoric again," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

On an $18,500 fire call bill, for 1979 and 11 months of 1980, Venice Township paid $1,500 on March 22, 1979, then $1,000 on Aug. 11, 1980, and another $1,000 Nov. 18, 1980, for a total fire payment of $3,500 during the past 23 months.

Vasileff said, "We can guarantee payment in full within the next six months with some reallocations and future billings we will handle on a 30-day basis."

Echols said, "I would like a written agreement. It should stipulate that we will submit bills on a monthly basis and payment will be made on a monthly basis and this should be signed by all appropriate persons."

A meeting will be held between the Venice aldermanic fire committee, Venice Township officials, and attorneys to draw up a written agreement.

In addition to Vasileff the Venice Township board again attended the council meeting.

It was reported that a house located at 213 Hampden St., Venice, was being torn down. The house had been a problem for the city and residents near it for some time.

The house is expected to be completely down and cleared away by the end of this week, according to Mayor Echols.

It was also reported that two other old structures were being taken down, one in the 1100 block of Market Street and another in the 1000 block of Calhoun Street.

Jail guard charged is free on $25,000 bond

Frank Darron Dailey, 34, of Troy, Ill., a Madison County jail guard, is free on $25,000 bond, set by Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosele, after being charged with delivery and possession of a controlled substance, and misconduct.

Dailey was arrested while off duty at the jail in Edwardsville at about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, according to a sheriff department spokesman.

Madison County Sheriff Emil J. Toffant dismissed Dailey, who as a guard is not a sworn deputy and not covered by the merit commission regulations.

Dailey had been a guard for only nine months. The charges stem from an alleged attempted delivery of marijuana to inmates, a felony, and alleged possession of less than 30 grams of marijuana, a misdemeanor.

Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941

What then-President Franklin D. Roosevelt called "a day that will live in infamy."

At 7:55 on that serene Sunday morning the first wave of Japanese air and sea forces attacked Pearl Harbor plunging the United States into World War II.

Less than two hours later the second wave of Japanese attackers struck the island naval station. The main target being Battleship Row on the southeast side of Ford Island. This is where the U.S. ships California, Maryland, Oklahoma, Tennessee, West Virginia, Arizona and Nevada were moored.

One Quad-City resident that was at Pearl Harbor that day and witnessed the attacks was William Huckla, 1806 Edwardsville Road, in Madison. He was a civil service worker for the government and was stationed at the harbor.

The accompanying photos loaned to the Press-Record by Huckla shows some of the devastation which was a result of the enemy attacks.

Among the eighteen U.S. warships sunk or damaged were the Oklahoma, California and the Pennsylvania, the latter being in Drydock No. 1 at the time of the attack. With the Pennsylvania were the ships Downes and Cassin.

The early morning attacks took the lives of 2,409 U.S. servicemen with 1,143 being wounded. Fortunately the main targets that the Japanese high command sought most, the aircraft carriers, were missing from the harbor. These were the Enterprise, the Lexington and the Saratoga.

Ironically, the Japanese planes were plotted by an Army radar station on the northern tip of the Hawaiian island of Oahu, where Pearl Harbor is located, but they aroused no great concern because they were assumed to be a flight of B-17s.

The U.S. planes were due to arrive from California and land at Hickam Field next to the naval shipyard at Pearl Harbor on the south side of Oahu.

The USS Oklahoma was struck by three torpedoes which ripped it apart and caused the ship to capsize. It was lost along with the Arizona which had 1,177 sailors and marines trapped inside of it after being hit.

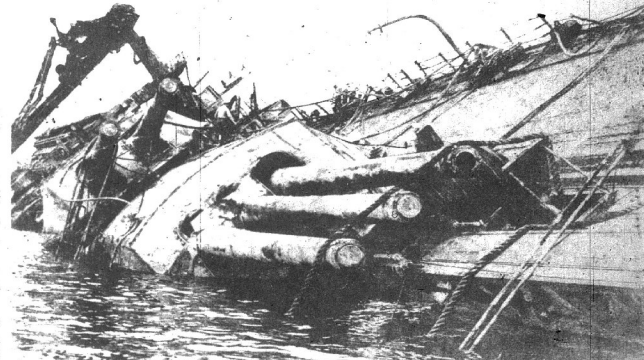

The USS California was hit by two torpedoes and sank at its berth. None of the battleships were missed by the enemy attack.

Thirteen of the eighteen ships sunk or damaged were repaired, refitted and returned to sea to fight once again.

Of the nineteen Japanese ships in the strike force, which included six carriers, two battleships, two cruisers and nine destroyers, only one destroyer was afloat when the Japanese surrendered in 1945.

Almost everyone old enough to remember that day does—some with great detail—and will probably never forget that "day that will live in infamy."

Where were you on that "day in infamy?"

Attack!

The sky around Pearl Harbor was filled with smoke billowing from the remains of those ships damaged or destroyed by the Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941. In the photo above, the battleship USS Pennsylvania, the large ship at rear, with the ships Downes, left front, and Cassin, destroyed by early morning attack, sit in Drydock No. 1. Above right — the USS Oklahoma, torn apart by three torpedoes, begins to capsize along Battleship Row on the southeast side of Ford Island, main target of the attackers. The Oklahoma was raised later to clear the harbor then resunk off Oahu. Below right — The USS California is seen prior to sinking in its berth after being hit by two torpedoes. It and the West Virginia and Nevada were all later refloated and repaired. Only five ships were destroyed or damaged beyond repair. Only one of the nineteen ships used by the Japanese during the attack was afloat when the Japanese surrendered in 1945.

Mayor to host yule party at city hall

Santa Claus will be among those present at a special Christmas program to be hosted by Mayor Paul Schuler at the city hall Thursday, Dec. 18.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and last until 10 p.m. especially for boys and girls. Santa Claus has accepted an invitation to attend the party, the mayor said. The Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church choir will offer a program of special arrangement under the direction of Lonnie Mahning.

The mayor said he is issuing a special invitation to the boys and girls of Granite City to attend the program. Santa will give each child a gift with the help of the mayor and the city.

Bell wins ICC approval of plan to eliminate two-party service

The Illinois Commerce Commission has approved Illinois Bell's request to discontinue two-party service statewide and to expand measured services available to customers in Belleville, East St. Louis, Edgemoor and Granite City.

Ken Evers, Illinois Bell manager, said the following changes are now in effect:

Residence two-party local service and two-party measured service is no longer available to new customers and will be eliminated beginning in late 1981.

A new one-party measured service is available to residence customers and will include discounts during off-peak calling periods.

Business measured service is expanded to include discounts during off-peak calling periods. "The new offering provides a lower priced alternative for customers who have one-party or two-party local service, as well as an upgraded service for those who now have two-party measured service," Evers said.

The residence measured service offering has a low basic rate of $2.65 a month, plus additional charges for each Bell phone. All local and nearby calls are billed in message units, and customers pay only for the service they use.

Business measured service continues to be available at $12.25 a month for each line or trunk plus equipment charges, and includes 75 units of usage. In addition, both residence and business measured services now include off-peak discounts. A message unit costs 5.29 cents between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, but is billed at only 3 cents at all other times and on certain holidays.

"Our studies indicate that the average residence customer will pay about the same or slightly less for one-party measured service," Evers said.

"In addition, customers who had two-party service will have higher quality service and can save even more by taking advantage of the off-peak calling discounts."

Illinois Bell will begin eliminating existing two-party service in late 1981 on a community-by-community basis as sufficient one-party facilities become available. The company will complete the elimination by Dec. 31, 1983. Customers will be individually notified as the service is phased out in their area.

The company has been phasing out two-party service under Illinois Commerce Commission guidelines since 1973. Two-party service was discontinued for customers in the close-in Chicago suburbs in 1978 and was discontinued in Chicago this September.

Today, fewer than 1 percent of all Illinois Bell customers (24,000) have two-party service, Evers said.

been interested in purchasing southern areas of the World War II-era military base since 1973, the speakers said. Granite City currently is serving as the primary buyer and would allocate sections to Madison and the port district.

The two mayors and Ranft and Port Board President Homer Huber conferred with federal authorities in Washington last month but found a negative reaction to their proposals—despite earlier federal willingness to give up hundreds of acres of property, it was noted.

The change of attitude in Washington has been costly to the Port District and legal action is among the possibilities.

being considered, Wednesday's discussion showed.

From almost the first day that a major area was declared surplus and available to local governments, federal officials began a study of how the U.S. itself could use the same land, the speakers said in voicing disappointment over Washington policies.

Mayor Schuler traced the history of the site acquisition effort and called it "a long and frustrating experience."

Port Manager Ranft said, "It is unfortunate, but we have hit a stone wall" on the project and related attempts to obtain additional Mississippi River access.

Mayor Sasyk of Madison called the federal stand "disappointing" but stressed that he retains some optimism regarding eventual success of the acquisition effort.

In addition to open storage structures containing 375,000 square feet, Mayor Schuler said, the cities have tried to acquire two warehouses of 300,000 square feet each and a third building of 135,000 square feet; the latter warehouse has steel roof supports and could be converted to manufacturing use through installation of a crane.

Strategic materials listed as stored here at present include over 400,000 tons of bauxite, used in the production of aluminum.

Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward objected to past delays in demolishing the property at 2262 rear Delmar Ave. "You mean we're just starting on this thing?" it's been like this for four to six years. Casper Nighohossian (former assistant city attorney) worked for years on this and the building inspector (Tony Rusick) worked on it. Now we're just getting started," Poulos asked.

Mayor Paul Schuler responded, "In 1973, the city of Madison had a similar building. The guy who owned it was in jail. Madison tore it down and ended up paying the guy two or three times what it was worth."

"Like it or not, we've got to go by the law," Schuler said, urging the aldermen to give the new system time to work. Alderman Warren Decatur asked Brewer why two other properties which had been discussed for demolition were not included in the ordinances and Brewer said contacts with the owners had resulted in some promises to repair the structures. If the repairs are not begun immediately, he said, ordinances to demolish them will be brought in at the next council meeting, he pledged.

He held the paper bag in one hand and the other hand was in his jacket pocket, pointing a finger or something at her through the jacket pocket, she recalled. She put the money in the bag and the man fled out the west door. He ran across Madison Avenue, chased by a witness, but the witness lost sight of him in the alley behind the Clark service station, 20th Street and Madison Avenue.

Reduce wholesalers handling food stamps

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has proposed rules that tighten criteria for food wholesalers to accept and redeem food stamps.

Under the proposed rules, most of the 2,300 food wholesalers now participating in the program would no longer be authorized to accept food stamps.

"The department is proposing these rules to reduce the number of outlets handling food stamps. This action has been recommended by the department's inspector general as a measure to reduce the potential for abuse," Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said.

"Wholesalers were authorized to redeem food stamps when the program first began in order to remove any obstacles that might prevent retailers from participating in the program," Foreman added. "However, banks are now widely available to redeem food stamps from retailers, and wholesaler food concerns are not generally needed for this purpose."

Under the proposed rule, the Department would authorize only those food wholesalers which are needed as food stamp redemption outlets by treatment programs for alcoholics or drug addicts by group living arrangements for the blind or disabled, or by retail food stores which have no access to a bank.

The Food Stamp Act of 1977 provided the department with authority to limit participation to those wholesalers necessary to the operation of the program. Over the past two years, the department has withdrawn authorization to accept food stamps from about half of the participating wholesalers. The proposed rule would remove most remaining wholesale concerns.

The department's inspector general has reported some instances where improperly obtained food stamps were illegally redeemed through a wholesaler.

"Certainly most wholesalers participating in the program are honest," Foreman said. "But there is a potential for misuse in each additional institutional layer through which food stamps must pass. Rather than allowing retailers to give the stamps to wholesalers who then turn them in to a bank, we think that the best way to avoid any potential for misuse is for retailers to take the stamps directly to the banks, themselves."

Comments on the proposed rules, which appeared in the Nov. 12 Federal Register, should be submitted to Alberto Frost, deputy administrator for family nutrition programs, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250 by Jan. 12, 1981.

Classes offered by SIUE operate on the quarter rather than semester system. Winter quarter classes beginning Jan. 5 and continue through March 21.

Professional Nursing Processes II (NURS 212-1) will be offered at Marion Veterans Administration Hospital, Good Samaritan Hospital in Mount Vernon, and the Edwardsville campus. Students successfully completing the course will earn two quarter hours of academic credit.

In a further study of the nursing process as the contemporary framework for providing professional nursing care, Professional Nursing Processes II (NURS 212-2) emphasizes the phases of intervention and evaluation. The strengths and limitations of professional nursing practice and the effects of nursing practice standards upon the quality of health care delivery are stressed.

Interpersonal Relations I (NURS 212-3) will be offered at Good Samaritan Hospital in Mt. Vernon and the Edwardsville campus. Students successfully completing the course will also earn two quarter hours of academic credit.

This course will study the role and role behaviors as they influence or determine the individual's self-concept, the effect of role perceptions and expectations on nursing practice, and the communication necessary for establishing and maintaining intra and interpersonal relationships.

All registered nurses are eligible to enroll in these nursing classes. Further information concerning specific times and days the class in Marion is offered is available by contacting Gynelle Baucus at 1-582-7731. ## Quad-Cityans retain power on County Board

of the Press-Record

Madison County Board members from the Quad-City area retained the chairmanship of the county board and assumed the leadership of seven powerful county committees during the board's annual reorganizational meeting Monday.

Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer of Granite City was re-elected to his fifth consecutive two-year term as chairman during the meeting.

He was first elected in January, 1972, and has held the post since. He was the only member nominated for the $21,400 a year post Monday.

After being elected, Hagauer told the board, "The only way a chairman can be a good one is through the people he surrounds himself with. I think we have made progress in the county and I think I have a good relationship with the board."

Hagauer serves not only as the board's chairman, but is the county's board representative for the 20th District of Granite City. Fred Dalton of Collinsville was selected to his second consecutive term as board vice-chairman, defeating Morris Miles of Chouteau Township on a 14 to 10 vote.

Quad-City area representatives on the board captured the top positions on seven of the county's 17 committees, and three committees—the Legislative, Finance and Animal Health Committees.

Roderick Baader of Venice heads the Environmental Control Committee; Don Partney of Granite City chairs the Tax Committee; William Webb of Granite City leads the Health Institutions and County Highway Committees; Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township chairs the Education & Recreation and the Special Sewer Committees; and Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City heads the License Committee.

More editions for teachers published

The sixth and seventh editions of "Seedbed," a journal of ideas for teachers by teachers, have been published and are available at the Teachers' Center Project (TCP) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The two editions, compiled and written as part of a summer, 1980 session at TCP, contain articles, book reviews, research reports and position papers concerning the intellectual growth of children.

The books also offer classroom-tested ideas and activities and new ways to approach problem solving and math.

Tom O'Brien, Center director and professor of education at SIUE, said the idea behind the "Seedbed" series is a belief that teachers and children are capable of thinking, and that the art is not doing out.

"Teachers sharing ideas with other teachers can be a potent force in the improvement of education," he said.

The August and November, 1980 Seedbed editions, plus back copies of most of the first five editions, are available from the Teachers' Center Project at SIUE for the cost of printing. Requests should be addressed to: Teachers' Center Project, Box 122, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026 or telephone 618-692-2118.

A complete list of 50 additional publications available through the Center will be mailed on request.

Accepting the present is Pontoon Beach Lions Club President David Schermer. Lioness President Mrs. Goodwin thanked the club for their seven years of service to the community and for sponsoring the Lioness ladies auxiliary, organized in 1977.

Pontoon Beach Lions give seven yers of service

Over 50 Pontoon Beach Lions Club members, their ladies and Pontoon Beach Lionesses celebrated the Pontoon Beach Lions Club seventh anniversary last week.

The group held a special ladies night Thanksgiving and Anniversary dinner-meeting at the Lions Den II, 3901 Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach.

During the evenings' program, Zone Chairman Clay Breihan of the Edwardsville Lions Club inducted new Lion Bob McElvain, 40 Kaseberg Park, into official membership. McElvain was sponsored into membership by Lion Bob Cuxar.

Deputy District Governor Donald D. Patrick, of the Pontoon Beach Club, installed Lion Phil Vaughn, 18 Iris Avenue, to the office of director. Lion Vaughn was appointed by Club President David Schermer to the board of directors to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Chester E. Ivan in September. Lion Vaughn's term will run until June, 1982.

The group was then shown a film by Program Committee Chairman, Immediate Past President George Goodwin. The movie, "Lionsism: Reaching Out to Others," gave a brief history of the Lions International 63 years of service across the world.

Lioness Club President Mrs. Nancy Goodwin presented President Schermer with a Seventh Anniversary cake and thanked the Lions for their years of service to the Pontoon Beach and Quad-City community. Lioness President Mrs. Goodwin also thanked the Lions for sponsoring the Lioness Club ladies auxiliary, "giving the women of the community the opportunity to serve their fellow man," she stated. The Lions Club sponsored the Lioness Club in October 1977.

Second Vice-President Frank Crames, chairman of the 1980 Candy Day campaign, announced that the club collected $1,883 during the annual October drive. The money is used to provide sight and hearing services to local needy families of the area.

Following the dinner and program, the Lions, Lionesses and guests were entertained by the music of the Rick Macanuff group.

Breakfast with Santa program set

GC settles final labor contract

"That's the last one, mayor," a relieved Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, chairman of the Granite City Council's negotiating committee, commented Tuesday night after the council ratified a contract with the union employees at the city's sewage treatment plant—settling the final contract to be negotiated this year. The three-year pact ratified by the council Tuesday night is in line with the "standard city package" negotiated for all departments, according to one city official.

All employees of the sewage treatment plant, including members of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 525, will receive a retroactive eight percent raise from May 1 of this year and will receive an additional nine percent raise May 1, 1981. The contract also calls for a three percent raise Nov. 1, 1981, and a one percent increase March 1, 1982. Non-union employees (there are two) are to receive the same increases, the council agreed.

In other business, Terrence McMillan, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant, reported that three large trailers the city has ordered for sludge hauling should be delivered within the next two weeks. One is due for delivery Dec. 10 and the other two should be here Dec. 15, McMillan stated. The city already has taken delivery on a Mac diesel tractor to pull the trailers. When the larger trailers are used for sludge removal, rather than the smaller dump trucks now used, the city will be able to dispose, during normal working hours, of all sludge generated by the treatment plant, as well as get rid of a backlog of sludge piled on the property.

SCA Services, which operates the sanitary landfill the city uses for its sludge, had imposed a $5,000 per month charge for dumping after normal working hours, so the city ordered McMillan to stop dumping after 5 p.m. daily.

A backlog of sludge then developed and had to be dumped on the grounds of the treatment plant. The Granite City Army Installation and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency objected to the sludge being there, so McMillan formulated a program of purchasing a tractor and three large trailers to keep up with the sludge problem, according to recent council discussions. To enable the city to obtain the trailers under a lease-purchase agreement, the council Tuesday night approved an ordinance allowing a five-year lease with Municipal Funding Corp. of America, Denver, Colo., for the tractor and trailers.

Under its home rule powers, the city may pass such an agreement, but an ordinance is required, by state law, if the interest rate exceeds seven percent.

Glen Carbon water supply exceeds EPA bacteria rules

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) has announced that the Glen Carbon Public Water Supply has failed to comply with a maximum allowable concentration (MAC) involving the bacteriological quality of its water and has also failed to notify its customers of this violation.

The Glen Carbon Public Water Supply has exceeded the maximum allowable concentration (MAC) for total coliform bacteria. A MAC is the maximum amount of a substance allowed in drinking water. This violation occurred during August.

Coliform bacteria are found in the intestinal tract of all warm-blooded animals. The presence of coliform in properly treated water indicates a pathway by which pathogenic (disease producing) organisms could enter the system.

"However, we do not feel this violation poses a health hazard at this time," according to Ira M. Markwood, manager of the Division of Public Water Supplies, IEPA.

Public water supplies are required to notify consumers through the mail within three months after failing to comply with a MAC. The failure to comply with a MAC and the failure to notify the public of such a violation are violations of the Interim Primary Regulations of the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act and the Illinois Pollution Control Board's rules and regulations.

Markwood added, "The requirement for public notice was meant to give public water supplies an opportunity to educate the public about problems facing the water supply serving them, and what is being done to correct the problem along with any precautions that can be taken by the consumer."

North guidance rates are above average

Principal Gilbert Walmsley has announced that the North Guidance Department has received a high rating for student services. Information received from the American College Testing Program places the North Guidance staff well above average, in regard to student evaluation, in the state of Illinois.

Data gathered from North students taking the ACT college Admission Test indicated strong satisfaction with North Guidance services. Fifteen percent more of North's students were satisfied with services than students in other schools across the state.

In addition, 6 percent fewer students at North expressed dissatisfaction with their guidance services when compared to the state averages. The guidance staff and administration takes great pride in these recently released statistics, Walmsley said.

It is the belief of the North staff that an evaluation of how the students perceive they are being treated is of utmost importance. Walmsley noted that his guidance staff emphasizes student contact and interaction. With such an emphasis, an evaluation of student satisfaction is almost impossible for school personnel to validly assess, he indicated. Further, he stated that the Act organization has been able to overcome these problems in measuring the degree of student satisfaction. "We expect to continue these services and seek to improve them to our students and to our community," Walmsley said.

Five counselors provide services to North students. These include the coordinator, Dr. William E. Breidenbach, Henry Beiser, Mrs. Charlotte Gauen, Mrs. June Mills, and Albert W. Rowden.

Public aid clients to report income monthly

The Illinois Department of Public Aid is asking for written public comments on its Monthly Reporting- Retrospective Accounting Experiment.

The experimental project will measure the effects of requiring public aid recipients to report their incomes and household circumstances to public aid offices on a monthly basis. Public Aid Director Jeffrey C. Miller said, "A system of monthly reporting may ensure more accuracy in determining continued eligibility for public aid recipients and in calculating benefits because it will be able to respond more quickly to the changes that occur in the recipient's income and household circumstances. However, the administrative costs will have to be closely monitored to determine whether or not such a system is feasible."

The Peoria County public aid office and the Southeast District Office in Cook County will serve as test sites for the project. Funding is being provided by the U.S.

Beware of Christmas swindles

Christmas! A time of brotherly love-but beware of deceit!

It's the Christmas season again, and that means the traditional joys of Christmas will also be joined by the traditional schemes of Christmas, the Better Business Bureau has warned.

Year after year, the same plays crop up. The street corner peddler with watches or perfumes may be selling products that don't live up to their famous name packages, and he certainly won't be there the next day to satisfy complaints!

Shoppers should be alert and realize that the "bargain" item offered at a "drastic" reduction from the so-called list price is not necessarily a great savings. Generally, the list price is not a representative of the (actual) selling price in the area.

Watch out for "bait and switch" when answering advertised sales. A "bait" offer is an alluring but insincere offer to sell a product or service which the advertiser does not intend to sell. Its purpose is to switch consumers from buying the advertised merchandise or service, in order to sell something else, usually at a higher price or on a basis more advantageous to the advertiser.

The C.D.D. box for a neighbor may turn out to be unordered merchandise that you, who so kindly dipped into your wallet for it, are stuck with.

To avoid these and other possible pitfalls, the BBB offers the following tips: Probably the most single important shopping tip to remember is to inquire about a firm's refund or exchange policy. Each store has the right to establish its own policy concerning refunds and exchanges. As long as merchandise is not defective or misrepresented, the retailer is not obligated to take back the product.

Be cautious of shops opened only for the holiday season.

If you buy by mail-order, allow plenty of time for delivery and be sure to check the firm's customer experience record with the BBB.

Take your time when buying. Compare prices as well as quality of the products. Don't be high pressured or believe "this is your last chance."

No one can continually sell retail at wholesale prices. An appeal to buy "wholesale" is generally bunkum.

Finally, deal with stores whose reputations for reliability are known to you, where guarantees are honored, delivery is on time and which will stand behind products offered to the public.

Public hearing tonight on IP rae increase plan

The Illinois Commerce Commission will hold a public hearing at 7 tonight in the county courthouse at Edwardsville on a request by Illinois Power Co. for a 23-percent hike in electric rates.

Opposition has been expressed by the Illinois Public Interest Research Group, National Town Meeting and the Organizing Committee for Eastern Madison County. The ICC has until July to act on the rate hike proposal. It has the options of approving the proposal, denying it or reducing the amount sought.

The company is seeking approximately $115 million more per year, a part of which will be used to pay for construction of the nuclear power plant at Clinton.

If approved in full, the requested increase could raise residential electric rates as much as $150 per year, according to literature being distributed by those opposing the increase.

3-YEAR PROBATION
Associate Judge John W. Day has sentenced Robert Foresee, 28, of 824 Alton Ave., Madison, to three-year probation in an Oct. 20 aggravated assault case.

Overpass dedication program

The 19th Street overpass, which will connect West Granite with the downtown area, when completed, will be officially dedicated during ceremonies beginning at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Triangle Park, Ohio Avenue and Rock Road, in West Granite.

Randall Robertson, a local attorney, has been invited to deliver the dedication address, followed by a response from Dale Kiefer, district engineer for District 8 of the Illinois Department of Transportation. The overpass will be under construction during the dedication. A ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held when it is completed. The overpass is being built by Millstone Construction, Inc., and the engineers for the structure were from M.W. Architects and Engineers.

The two-lane overpass was scheduled to be completed by end of August, 1982, but the project is several months ahead of schedule, according to the project engineer, Tom Grimes.

Following the dedication, the public is invited to a reception at Moose Lodge 272, 19th and Adams streets.

Mayor Paul Schuler will serve as master-of-ceremonies for the dedication program and the Rev. C. Dale Edwards of First Assembly of God Church will deliver the invocation.

Mrs. June Branding will sing the National Anthem, accompanied by the Granite City High School South Band with Joseph Owens directing. Mayor Schuler then will welcome the guests and the speakers.

The benediction will be delivered by Dr. Thurman York of Tri-City Park Tabernacle.

Funds for building the overpass were provided by a joint city and Granite City Street bond issue and by grants from the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Traffic fatalities down

Illinois traffic fatalities are down from last year. Figures released by R. J. Miller, superintendent, Illinois State Police, said a total of 1,894 traffic fatalities, 21 under for the same period last year. There were 140 fatalities during November, 21 of these occurring during the Thanksgiving Day holiday. District Eleven had a total of nine traffic accident fatalities in November, six in St. Clair County and three in Madison County. District Eleven had no fatalities during the Thanksgiving Day holiday period.

Statistics for 1979, indicate that 2,048 persons died in traffic accidents on Illinois highways. A total of 673 of these drivers were tested for blood alcohol concentration (BAC), results showing 366-BAC .10 or greater, 47-BAC .05 to .09, 30-.01 to .04, and 236 negative results. The Illinois law defines legal intoxication as having a BAC of .10 or greater. Captain Glenn H. Huffman, commander, District Eleven, urges all motorists to refrain from driving after drinking, especially during the coming Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Slate seminar on steel making

The Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a seminar entitled, "The Manufacture of Iron and Steel," on Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Russell C. Solomon, adjunct professor in the School of Science and Technology, will lead the session. The presentation will focus on the manufacture of iron and steel, with a discussion of contemporary challenges confronting the industry. Several short films will be shown to illustrate various aspects of the manufacturing process.

The program is the last of a seminar series offered free of charge as a public service for senior citizens in the Metro-East region. The session will meet from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room in the University Center at SIUE.

Interested persons may contact Lisa Pettit at 1-692-3454 or 1-692-2202 at SIUE.

Luke 4:1 - "And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness."

Jesus went into the wilderness and fasted for forty days. He then was tempted by Satan to make proof of his Sonship.

He overcame Satan and his temptations by the Word of God. We can do the same.

Paul states to the Romans in chapter eighth, verse fourteen: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

Christ was led by the Spirit. We too must be led by the Spirit. Knowing we are led by Him gives us courage and confidence in every temptation. He is with us. He will never leave us or forsake us.

Let Him lead your life today.

SIUE Health Care center doctor plans more seminars

Making the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Health Service more accessible to students is high on the priority list for Dr. Frank Woodson, the new acting director of the SIUE Health Service.

Dr. Woodson's recent appointment is subject to ratification by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

"If a student thinks he's sick enough to see a doctor, he should be able to get in," Dr. Woodson said. "I want the students to be able to make appointments sooner."

Before starting work at SIUE on Nov. 3, Dr. Woodson had over 30 years of professional experience as a private practitioner and general surgeon in the East St. Louis and St. Louis area.

In recent years, however, he has turned his interests to the area of chemical dependency and devoted much of his time to the fields of alcohol and drug abuse and misuse by serving as medical director of the Clair County Alcohol and Drug Dependency Council (ADDCO) and by giving three or four lectures a week to patients with drug or alcohol problems at Lindell Hospital in St. Louis.

discontented with private practice," explained Dr. Woodson. "Private practice doesn't provide the challenges it previously did."

He hopes he will encounter some new challenges at SIUE by initiating new programs to benefit the University community. One program he would like to start would incorporate various rap sessions and instructional seminars that would utilize his medical expertise in drug and alcohol areas.

"I'm cognizant of the problems of drugs and alcohol in setting of this type," said Dr. Woodson. "There's no doubt in my mind of the need for informational seminars."

Dr. Woodson envisions having a question-and-answer type program on WSIE, the campus radio station. "It would not be lectures," he stressed. Dr. Woodson, "but a talk show type format."

"It would be a medical program such as 'Ask the Doctor,' where people would ask questions about what to do if they were faced with an immediate medical problem."

Dr. Woodson would also like to study and update the University's current disaster plan. "We should have a coordinated disaster plan," explained Dr. Woodson, "so if something happens, we know what to do."

Dr. Woodson feels his experiences of rearing his three children will help him understand and relate to the students on campus. He has a daughter living in Philadelphia, who is a Harvard graduate and now working as a business corporation manager, a 21-year-old son majoring in music at Tulsa University, a 19-year-old daughter majoring in psychology at Webster College, and a 15-year-old daughter living at home.

"On that basis alone, I've had some contact in this age bracket," said Dr. Woodson. "Besides, I've always had good rapport with young people."

Other than his professional work, Dr. Woodson writes for various medical journals and acclaims himself a "music buff in terms of listening."

Included in his love of music is his enjoyment of playing the piano. "I was one of the few doctors in East St. Louis who had a piano in his consultation room," laughed Dr. Woodson. Right now, however, Dr. Woodson is busy adjusting to the structure of the University and deciding in what direction he wants to guide his plans and ideas.

Safe toys for the young one

By PROFESSOR ROBERT ROCKWELL

There are hundreds of toys available for parents to purchase for their children. When you are faced with the problems of what to get for a specific child you should consider who it is for, what he is like, his age and what his interests are. This article will discuss the types of toys available for specific age groups and more importantly, the reasons for choosing certain kinds of toys for children.

To say that a toy is definitely suited for a given age is difficult to do. We can only make suggestions. You as the parent must consider your child and make the final decisions. Keep in mind that children use toys for many different reasons. There is no definite age range that any toy can cover. In this article, I will attempt to categorize a few basic toys by age group and give you information about how particular toys can contribute to your child's growth and development at that age.

An infant under six months has poor vision and very little muscle coordination. At this stage, it is important to find toys that will stimulate and strengthen his eyes, ears and body muscles. These toys must be small, contain no removable parts and be able to stand on their own. A good example is a mobile which can be hung above the baby in his crib. Other good toys would be rattles, crib play games, clutch balls and hanging unbreakable mirrors.

A baby between the ages of six months and one year has fairly good vision, can use his hearing better, and has increased muscle development. Your task at this age is to promote better muscle coordination. You should play with your baby often when using some of the toys to be suggested. Balls, which are fairly small and have texture to them are excellent toys. Terry cloth dolls are good to use for comforting as well as teaching cushions. A busy box is especially challenging to a very young baby and can be used in many ways at a later stage. Perhaps the best toys are blocks and stacking toys. Rockers and rocking chairs are also good but must be supervised by an adult.

After one year, a child is able to walk and has fairly good muscle development. Your role again is to help muscle development and introduce small muscle activities. Small muscles are those found in the hand and foot. A child must learn to coordinate these muscles with his ability to see and react. For the larger muscles of the body, such as the arm and leg, larger balls, rocking horses, climbing cubes, push-pull toys are good.

For the smaller muscles, blocks, stringing beads, shape sorters, large crayons and musical toys are good. A very good toy is a pounding table where a child can pound, screw, fit, and attach various wooden or plastic bolts to a sturdy surface with holes fit to size. Household pots and pans are widely used toys and very easy to manipulate by children at this age.

Children from 2 to 5 have greater muscle development as well as a strong curiosity and urge to learn. Strengthen your child's muscle coordination through educational and interesting toys. Wheel toys like tricycles, wagons, scooters, and wheelbarrows are great for large muscle coordination. Toys especially like to do wood-working, and child-size tools are available for this activity. "Clay and play-doh" are fun and excellent for finger coordination.

Blunt-tip scissors, sandbox tools, cooking materials and pencils are good hand toys and allow your child to work independently and creatively. There are scale-model airports, doll houses, and gas stations available for children to use for make-believe and independent play. For more learning experiences, you may consider puzzles, magnifying glasses, magnets, alphabet letters, number cards, and chalkboards and chalk.

Books can be found for children of all ages. Very young babies like to look at, hold and play with books. Older children listen to stories, tell stories and begin to read from books.

When selecting a toy, always consider its safe use. Many toys will require supervision and often your assistance to use at first. Toys with sharp edges, points, small pieces, unsanded edges, small holes, protruding edges and those made with breakable materials should be avoided. Check the label to be sure the toy is made of non-toxic materials. Lists of toys judged as being unsafe can be obtained from the Consumer Products Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Consider the ideas given in this article when making and/or buying toys for your child. Proper toys should be an aid to your child's growth and development as well as a source of enjoyment.

Raffle ordinance remains in limbo

For the second month in a row, the Madison County board has tabled a proposed ordinance governing raffles, this time for an indefinite period.

The ordinance would legalize raffles sponsored by various charitable organizations and civic groups but it would also regulate them.

A recent state law allows counties to legalize the raffles. In the past, although illegal, some raffles have been held anyway.

County Board Member Bill Haine, Alton, said the proposed ordinance would be "an onerous burden" on some small charities and churches, who would be faced with fines, fees and paperwork.

Homer Henke, Moro, said he was "damned mad" about the proposed ordinance. It was more bureaucracy, at a time when the people are trying to get government off their backs, he said. "Let's show the state legislature we don't need this legislation."

"It is already illegal," Dick Worthen, Alton, protested. "The legislation is to make it legal."

When the proposed ordinance was tabled by a voice vote, James Heil, Godfrey, chairman of the legislative committee, which drew up the ordinance, said the county board had just asked the new state's attorney to turn his head.

Heil said the legislative committee thought it was doing everyone a favor, but said the people who conduct raffles are afraid the terms of the ordinance will cut into their profits.

It was alleged that he was found inside a walk-in cooler at a storage area of the Wayside Tavern, 2160 Washington Ave. Entry had been gained by prying a lock and breaking a sump, and a case of beer was found outside a door leading to the storage area.

GIVEN PROBATION Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill has placed Dennis J. Smith, 17, of the 3000 block of Circle Drive on one year of probation. A $300 fine also was assessed for an Oct. 16 petty theft.

North Granite drainage a step closer to completion

Construction should begin immediately for the North Granite holding pond and drainage project authorized by the Granite City Council this summer.

The council at its last meeting authorized Mayor Paul Schuler to sign the necessary agreements with the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad to put an underground line through the railroad underpass.

Water will be pumped through that line into existing city stormwater sewers during dry periods when those sewers are not in use.

C.D. Peters Construction Co. was the low bidder to do the work for $492,245, including the removal of approximately 130,000 cubic yards of dirt to create a holding pond, on which Peters bid $274,450; construction of a pumping station, $85,650; installation of about 1,000 feet of culvert and repairs to the drainage ditch along Nameki Drive, less than $10,000; replacing up to five crabapple trees which may be damaged during construction, $210; and other work related to the program.

The council passed a resolution allowing the mayor to sign the agreement with the railroad for the underground pipe across railroad property, because the railroad requires such a resolution before it will grant easements or rights-of-way, the aldermen were told.

In other business, the council accepted the plans for Wilson Park Estates Fifth Addition, and Leaders Drainage Inc. and Schuler during the meeting why the city's inspection department and engineering department had been allowed to use surplus fire department vehicles, when the fire and water committee had not decided which departments are to get the vehicles.

Schuler said he did not promise the vehicles to the inspection and engineering departments permanently, but added, "I didn't want them to sit idle. I didn't want them to be a waste of money. I didn't see any harm in it."

Baker said four different department heads have indicated an interest in having the vehicles and the committee currently is studying those requests.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, chairman of the council's negotiating committee, reported that employees of the city's sewage treatment plant have approved suggested changes in the proposed union contract with the city and he said he will have the final contract and raises brought in for ratification by the council at its next meeting tomorrow night.

Approval was given to Mike DeRuntz to attend a course on housing standards and inspection in River Grove, Ill. Jan. 6 to 8. Also approved were $150 for tuition and $300 for expenses.

Alderman Sam Whitmer was the only alderman voting against the trip.

Air Pollution Control Director Paula Case was granted expenses and airfare to meet with U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Grant Administrator Karen Harper in Chicago Dec. 8 to 10 to discuss the federal grant for the upcoming year to the local pollution control department.

Aldermen voting against the trip were Whitmer, Baker and Charles Douglas, Washington Ave., was granted permission to construct an addition to his home near his property line. The project had the endorsement of the city's Board of Appeals.

Alderman Glen Sprankle, chairman of the council's sewage treatment plant committee, reported the computer for the intake and outflow meters at the plant are broken and would cost more than $2,000 to repair. Since the computer is outdated, he asked for permission to seek bids to sell the old computer and to advertise for bids on purchasing a new computer.

The old computer has been in service since 1975, he noted.

Schuman also noted that the Mac diesel truck the council purchased has arrived at the treatment plant and two trailers should arrive Dec. 10 and 15. The city then can use the large trailers to haul sludge to the dump, rather than the smaller dump trucks now in use.

In addition to helping remove the backlog of sludge on the ground at the treatment plant, the new larger trailers are expected to save money by enabling all the sludge the plant produces to be disposed of during regular hours at the dump, eliminating a charge for dumping after hours.

Permission was granted to Michael Antonovich Sr., 2325 Arnold Drive, to sell Christmas trees on a lot he owns at 2533 Madison Ave. today through Christmas Eve.

The council received a check from Southwestern Cable Television for $570, representing three percent of the $18,000 the company collected from city residents since October. There now are 2,844 homes connected to the cable TV system, the council was told.

Formulate plan for automating sanitary district stations

The Metro-East Sanitary District may soon ask the U.S. Corps of Engineers to seek federal funds to convert all of the district's pumping stations to automated operation at a cost of nearly $1 million.

Although some details remain to be worked out, the sanitary district trustees appear to favor a plan submitted by Police Alert Security Systems (PASS) of East St. Louis, to convert all of the pump stations from manual operation to automated operation for about $980,000.

Russell Robinson of Granite City, president of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, has said that federal funds for conversion to an automated system could be applied for, if a feasible plan is presented. Work to find a feasible plan has continued for a year.

The automated system would activate the pumps at periods of high water levels and would keep a central monitoring station aware of the condition of each of the pumps.

PASS also submitted a proposal for equipment to automatically lubricate, move equipment in the pumping stations at a total cost of $48,000, but recommended against adopting the proposal, noting that it is helpful for the workers to visually inspect the pump stations when lubricating the equipment.

The Corps of Engineers has said that federal funds for conversion to an automated system could be applied for, if a feasible plan is presented. Work to find a feasible plan has continued for a year.

The course will cover cash flow analysis, tax sheltering, depreciation, and financing. The program is aimed at improving the quality of the decision-making process by public officials who review proposals for the use of funds and powers to enhance project feasibility.

If possible, participants should bring calculators. They also will be sent reading materials in advance of the seminar, so they may familiarize themselves with the course content.

The second seminar in the series, tentatively planned for Feb. 20, will focus on an analysis of retail specialty projects. Instructor for the course will be an architect, planner and investor who is familiar with activities similar to those planned for St. Louis Union Station.

Registration may be accomplished by contacting Robert Mendelson in the SUE Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services by telephoning 1-800-303-22.

8250 FINE ORDERED
Leonard Barnick, 40, of 2407 Washington Ave. has been assessed a $250 fine and placed on one year of conditional discharge for allegedly receiving a stolen vehicle Dec. 3, 1979. The charge was filed by a postal inspector, court records show. Circuit Judge Victor J. Moselle presided.

Key roles in county government for local residents Hagnauer, Webb, Whitsell, Partney, Bauder, Milton

Just as there are high hopes for the new Congress convening Jan. 3 and the new national administration beginning Jan. 20, Madison County residents are hopeful that their newly inaugurated county leaders will serve effectively in the elective terms they began this week.

Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City was elected to another two-year term as chairman of the 29-member Madison County Board, which he has led since it went into existence May 1, 1972. A county legislator 25 years and the supervisor of Granite City Township for 19 years, he also served as chairman of the former 49-member County Board of Supervisors during its final session.

Republican Donald Weber, state attorney of Madison County, started his duties by disclosing plans to work with Democrat Michael Henkhaus county treasurer, to tighten up the sagging collection of mobile home taxes.

Those who began new four-year terms in county offices on Monday were Democrat Willard Portell, circuit clerk, Ronald Lucas, recorder of deeds, Arthur "Pete" Fields, county auditor, and Mrs. Dallas Burke, coroner. A. Andreas Matosian was sworn in as a circuit judge. Holdover county officials include Sheriff Emil Toffant and Regional School Superintendent Harold E. "Gene" Briggs. Also on the board are among those playing major roles on the County Board Committee chairmen from this community will be Louis Whitsell, special education and education-recreation committees; William Webb, county highway and health institutions committees; Roderick Bauder, environmental control; Daniel Partney, taxation; Herbert Milton, licenses; and Hagnauer, executive committee, the roster of which includes all committee chairmen.

County Board members from here will be: county buildings, Milton; public welfare and land use committees, Bauder; right-of-way and taxation committees, Richard Feek; health institutions, Morris Miles; central services, Partney; licenses, Frank Dutko; personnel, Milton, Miles and Dutko; and special sewer committee, Bauder.

The board members newly re-elected include Milton and Bauder; among those joining the board for initial district and countywide service are Dutko and Feek.

News notes

Joseph R. Manning, St. Louis, has won $5,000 in the state lottery's $1 instant Three for the Dough game, uncovering 1, 2 and 3 on his ticket. It was purchased at the Chain of Rocks Motel here.

The Tri-City Regional Port District will hold an open house Wednesday, Dec. 10, to celebrate overall tonnage through the Port of three million tons and record tonnage handled by the Bulk Service Corp.

The state plans to remove a 350-foot-tall radio tower at the State Police District 11 headquarters in Maryville before spring at a cost of $6,000. The tower has been endangered by mine subsidence. The district employs 86 officers and 27 others. A new tower is expected to cost $95,000 and its location is undetermined; however, the five-county headquarters will remain in this general area.

The Rev. Jimmy Maynor will speak to the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship at a 6:30 p.m. dinner Saturday at Roustou's, Collinsville.

A court test will be sought to determine whether Mrs. Stephanie Robbins can continue as a Fourth Ward alderman in Edwardsville. She resigned her duties Monday as an assistant state's attorney and is uncertain whether there is a conflict between the two positions.

The Illinois House voted 128-27 Wednesday to override a veto, following similar action by the Senate. Their action removes the state sales tax on gasoline, as an incentive to the alcohol fuel industry in the state.

Senator-elect Alan J. Dixon has been assigned to the Agriculture Committee, the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee and the Select Committee on Small Business.

Illinois House Minority Leader George Ryan, 46, R-Spankakee, was nominated Wednesday by his fellow House members to be speaker of the House in the General Assembly session starting Jan. 14. Republicans have control of the House from Democrats in the Nov. 4 election.

A sharp disagreement has developed between Lt. Gov. David O'Neal, who receives $45,000 a year, and Gov. James R. Thompson, who authorized raises of 9 to 33 percent Tuesday for three top aides. Robert Kjellander, who was paid $43,200 as the governor's patronage official, will get $46,224 as legislative liaison. O'Neal calls the raises "ridiculous and poorly timed."

Tentative BAC pact

Tentative agreement was reached at a Jan. 20 meeting between the contract terms affecting Belleville Area College faculty members. The pact was reached after five hours of discussions, and the two sides met jointly from midnight to 4 o'clock.

Productivity for one year of teaching departments was the main issue of dispute delaying an agreement for the 1980-81 school year. Part of the faculty went on strike for three weeks this fall. Terms of the tentative pact are being withheld pending consideration by the teachers.

FIRE ON STATE ST.
A fire at the home of James Clubb, 2260 State St., at 9 p.m. Tuesday caused an estimated $12,000 damage. It is including $8,000 damage to the building and $4,000 to its contents. A cigarette is believed to have dropped onto a mattress, starting the blaze, which spread from the bedroom into the living room. Granite City firemen extinguished the blaze.

OIL PORTRAIT of the late John Sedlack, owner and operator of the Sedlack Funeral Home in Madison for 50 years, is viewed Monday afternoon by Mary Cromer, an employee of Mr. Sedlack and now manager of the funeral home for the Mercer-Thomas Mortuaries. The painting is the work of Anthony Donoff, 803 Grand Ave., Madison, and has been given to Mrs. Cromer by the Donoff family. It will be displayed at the funeral home.

Reappoint Robinson to board

Russell Robinson of Granite City, who has served five years on the Board of East Sanitary District for the past four years, has been reappointed to another five-year term on the board, beginning today.

The appointment was made by the Madison County Board last week. The reappointment requires the posting by Robinson of a $10,000 surety bond. Robinson stepped down earlier this week as president of the district's board of commissioners and Walter "Shang" Greathouse was elected as the board's new president.

One other appointment made by the county board was the appointment of Norma LaRose, 160 Tennessee Ave., Mitchell, to the Tuberculosis Care and Treatment Board of Madison County, for a three-year term.

4 hurt in crash

Four persons were injured in an auto accident early this week at 25th Street and Madison Avenue, when the southbound auto of Lois Knight, 76, of 2554 Iowa St., was turning left, colliding with the northbound auto of John Pithers, 27, of 2824 Fortune Drive.

Both drivers and two members of Pithers' family were injured and were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Pithers was released after treatment.

Lois Knight suffered abrasions to her right knee. Kelly Pithers, 26 months old, suffered abrasions to her lower leg. Deborah Pithers, 25, bumped her head and John Pithers suffered minor injuries, according to official reports.

Fined on failure to submit tax returns

The owner of a bookkeeping firm entered a guilty plea Tuesday in Sangamon County Circuit Court to charges of failure to file Illinois income tax returns for the 1977 and 1978 tax years, the Illinois State Tax Commission said. Boris P. Elieff, 58, of 2210 Ames Ave., Granite City, entered the plea before Judge John Crain, who ordered him to pay $500 per count, a total of $1,000. Elieff was described as owner and operator of AAA Bookkeeping Service, 3712 Nameoki Road.

Failure to file Illinois income tax returns is class B misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $500 on each count and up to six months in jail.

The case was investigated by agents of the Department of Revenue. Prosecution was handled by the staff of Attorney General Tyrone Fahner.

Freed in rape case
Associate Judge Lola Maddox in late November dismissed a rape charge filed May 4 by the Madison County sheriff's department against Henry E. Murphy, 28, of 1303 Kirkpatrick Homes. The dismissal was proposed in a motion by the state's attorney's staff.

Authorities alleged that he raped two Granite City women, aged 19 and 30, after inviting them to a non-existent "party" at a mobile home in Mitchell.

Forward, he was alleged to have driven them to a levee area and raped them again before freeing them in Lincoln Place. Threats and physical force had been used, authorities contended.

60-year fight for liberties includes unpopular causes

The American Civil Liberties Union—in the spotlight because of its 60th anniversary, and the Illinois County celebration of that occasion Sunday, Dec. 7—never has been extremely popular, perhaps because of its role as a defender of unpopular causes. Popular causes, the ACLU reasons, do not need as much defending.

"We and others often find ourselves in serious disagreement with stands taken by the ACLU, but in retrospect it seems clear that the group has been correct in a majority of its efforts. Its timing usually ran years ahead of public opinion, and this helped generate considerable controversy."

In the 1920s, the ACLU opposed the Palmer raids against aliens. In the '30s, it aided labor organizers. In the '50s, it fought McCarthyism and in the '60s it attacked arbitrary segregation and defended anti-war protesters. During the last decade, the ACLU fought President Nixon on the ground that he violated citizens' civil liberties.

Ideally, our government will not ignore the Bill of Rights or oppose those who exercise such rights. But it does not always act ideally. And victims of the abuse of civil liberties sometimes cannot afford costly constitutional litigation, and the ACLU is not always able to act in their behalf.

The group has made mistakes, but argues that its critics forget what it has done for the public good. The ACLU only strives to defend rights, and does not take stands in support of a cause that may be at issue, it asserts.

Its philosophy, in 1980 as in 1920, is somewhat similar to Voltaire's: "I do not agree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Mourns death of small squirrel

To the Editor:
Yesterday, while visiting a friend, I was told a very sad and true story. I feel it must be told to you, especially if you live in the vicinity of 2400 Missouri or Illinois avenues.

Just why did one of you shoot the small squirrel and leave him to live, perhaps a week, in agony? If you were vicious enough to commit such an act (wounding it), why not finish the job and kill it in years ahead of public opinion, and this helped generate considerable controversy."

I have little knowledge of gun laws but there must be an ordinance on our G.C. books prohibiting killing or wounding animals within our city limits. What do you know is that someone killed a precious little friend of mine.

He must have been scampering up a tree at the time he was shot. He was, whoever you are that shot him, did you know that the bullet went through his back and then out the side of his head? Of course not. But he did.

Years ago G.C. brought in squirrels to make our parks look more rustic and I know we have an abundance of squirrels, but this fact doesn't give anyone permission to go around with a rifle shooting them.

This particular squirrel was my pet. For one year, he has been coming to my door begging for food every day, sometimes twice a day. Finally I bought the nuts he so enjoyed. Inch by inch, he wound his way into my living room and into my heart.

He would sit up theatrically and orderly, eating the nuts and sometimes pretending to bury some in my sag rug. Once, when he came in out of the rain, he rolled over and over to dry himself on the rug. Whenever I drove into my garage he would be there scampering to the front door waiting for me to open it and let him in.

Last summer, as I relaxed in my swing on the front porch, he would sit next to me to be sure it was me and then lie out flat to rest or doze. He was a delightful wild pet and good companion.

His head, mouth and eyes were swollen from the bullet that had made a hole in his back and came out through the side of his head.

I will never know how many times he tried to make it up my steps for help, but I do know: you who did this, did a horrendous deed. I never cease to be amazed at man's inhumanity to animals.

Do business with GC companies

To the Editor:
I find this very disturbing — with the economic woes of our country, let alone our fair city — that many business plants closing up, laying off, or just moving out, and that we don't have enough foresight to help our own citizens.

I am referring to the article about the milk contract with our school system. Going by the figures stated by David Partney in the Nov. 26 issue, Prairie Farms was only 35 cents per case more for white milk, and 24 cents per case on chocolate milk. Higher than Reed's Dairy (48 cents per case). One must also take into consideration that school kids may be paying for approximately five cartons ($4.875) per case they are not receiving.

Simple mathematics tells that this could result in the cheaper supplier.

We have a local company, which pays a large amount of taxes to our city, and has enough faith in our community to keep expanding.

Publicity helped show

To the Editor:
The Granite City Park District personnel would like to personally thank you for the publicity given to our show.

We know that your excellent spread and many articles prior to that day played a big part in the attendance. It is not a money-maker for us but feel that it is a good service to our community.

20TH-STATE MISHAP
W. T. Overbeck, 72, of 37 Riverview Drive received minor injuries at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday in a collision between the right front of his auto, southbound on 20th Street, and the front of the car of Everett Hughes, 2901 Circle Drive, eastbound on 20th Street. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Cougars fall short, 67-66

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Dennis Funneman's shot with five seconds left in the game hit both sides of the rim but wouldn't drop through and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville had lost a heart-breaker in its home opener to Kentucky Wesleyan 67-66 last night at the Edwardsville High School gym.

The SIUE Cougars only have themselves to blame for the loss, their second of the season in three games. Leading by as much as 11 points late in the first half, SIUE couldn't prevent the Panthers from cutting that margin to six at halftime.

Kentucky Wesleyan, a perennial NCAA Division II power, turned the contest into a pressure-cooker at the 13 minute mark of the second half. It was the culmination of five unanswered points by the Panthers that gave them the lead, 46-47. SIUE fell apart, committing numerous turnovers, enabling Wesleyan to build a nine point lead.

"We weren't getting the inside game, so when they got the lead, we had to go to a man defense," said Cougar head coach Jim Dudley.

"They (Wesleyan) had more of an opportunity to do things. I really thought it was over when they got the lead, though. You have to give credit to our boys in coming back like they did."

The Cougars held their composure and scratched away at the lead. A 15-foot jumper and two free throws by Scott Kabbes along with baskets from Ted Smith and Funneman brought SIUE back within two, 62-60. But the Cougars just couldn't catch Wesleyan as Dwight Higgs put the Panthers up by seven all by himself.

Called upon to do it again, SIUE grabbed a second breath and went to work. Henry Felton, Kabbes and Smith each scored and the stage was set with a minute left in the game. "We wanted to hold it for a last-second shot, but I still wanted them to run the offense," said Dudley. "When they heard me say one shot, they pulled out and just couldn't get back into the flow in time. Funneman's shot was so close."

"The big disappointment for me was letting Wesleyan control the tempo of the ball game," he said. "We had to make them play our game. Our inexperience may have shown. But when you have freshmen and sophomores in there, you have to go to them."

The Cougars were led by Smith poured in a game high 20 points. He also led the team in rebounds with 10. But Dudley wasn't happy. "I wasn't pleased with the rebounding effort," he said. "We weren't getting any offensive boards. We take one shot and that's all we get."

SIUE hit only 39 percent from the floor compared to 43 percent for Wesleyan. Funneman scored 15 points. Felton had 13 and Kabbes 10.

"You'd think the (the Cougars) would be ready for the first home game," said Dudley. "They're young and they'll learn."

"But it'd be nice to learn by winning."

Horizons dump Steamers

Special to the Press-Record

CHICAGO — Score one for the new kid on the block.

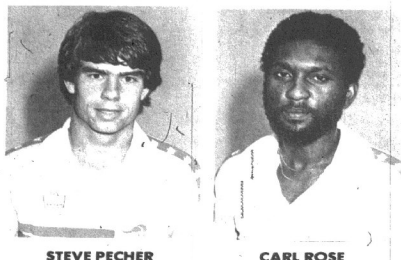

The Chicago Horizons handed the St. Louis Steamers their first loss in five games here last night 7-2 in Major Indoor Soccer League action at the new Rosemont Horizon Stadium. But, as the old cliché goes, the game was a lot closer than the score would indicate.

Nothing went right for the Steamers last night. Take for instance the shots on goal. St. Louis set a Major Indoor Soccer League record with an amazing 89 shots at Chicago goal keeper Gary Allison. But only scored two times. "I don't think yelling at them (the players) will do any good," said Steamers head coach Pat McBride. "But I'm going to be firm with them."

Another entry in the "nothing went right-for-them-category" would be two (count 'em, two) missed penalty kicks by St. Louis players Carl Rose and Greg Makowski.

Here's another — they not only failed twice on the power play in the fourth quarter, they gave up TWO short-handed goals to the expansion Horizons.

St. Louis, which going into the game led the MISL in power-play goals, scored only one goal last night with the man advantage. They had eight chances. Greg Villa, a former SIU-Edwardsville Cougar, scored that goal with only a little over a minute to play. It broke a Chicago string of 13 straight killed penalties, another league record.

On top of losing the game, the Steamers saw their lead in the Central Division of the MISL drop to one-half game over (you guessed it) Chicago. The Steamers are 4-1, while the Horizons are 4-2.

Despite all the bad talk, St. Louis actually took the lead in the game when Don Ebert, the Steamers' leading scorer this season, scored in the second quarter to put his team ahead 1-0. Steve Pecher had taken the initial shot, but it was blocked by Allison. Ebert, another former SIU-

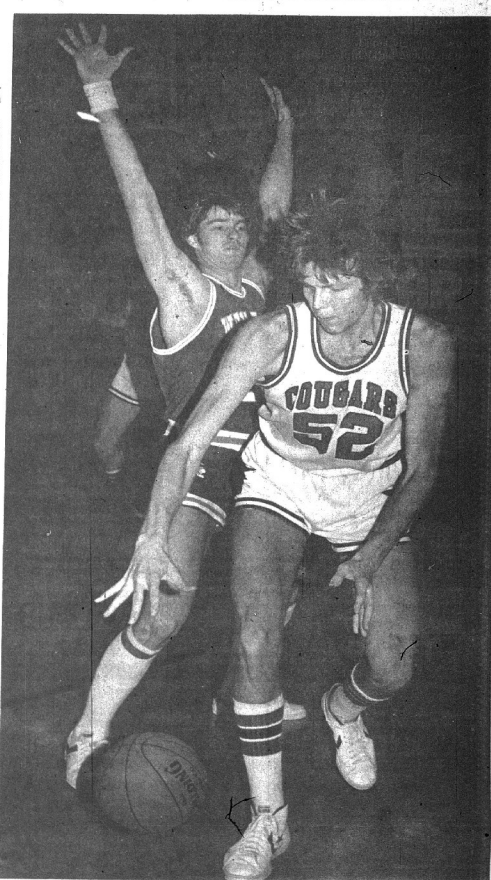

Edwardsville Cougar, was standing right in front of the Chicago keeper to boot in the rebound.

Chicago came back with two goals of its own in the second quarter to take a 2-1 halftime lead. Tony Simos and Herve Gulludid did the damage. Both goals came after Steamers' goalie Slobodan Ilievski had made their initial save, only to have the rebound booted in.

Chicago got two more goals in the third quarter — and they came just 20 seconds apart. Horizons player Craig Reynolds scored. Less than a minute later, it was Paul Kitson's turn.

The Steamers outshot the Horizons by a whopping 89-62 count. But Chicago's shots went in when it counted. Ilievski made 20 saves in goal for St. Louis. Allison made 23 saves for Chicago. St. Louis player Carl Rose made one save late in the game when the Steamers went to a six-man attack and he played the part of goalie.

The next two games for the Steamers will also be on the road. They will play at Buffalo Friday night at 7:05 against the Stallions. Saturday night at 6:35, they will play at Hartford against the Hellions.

JOE PICKOWITZ, SIU-Edwardsville's 6-11 giant, handles the ball last night as he is guarded by a Kentucky Wesleyan defender. SIUE lost a heart-breaker to the Panthers 67-66. Kentucky Wesleyan has won more NCAA Division II national championships than any other school.

MADISON — Seem like only yesterday that there they were, Madison and Venice highs basketball teams, going at each other's throats in the Dupo Regional championship game. It wasn't yesterday, it was nearly a year ago. But the memories are still fresh.

Venice had Madison in a corner that time, but let the Trojans slip out of its grasp and lost the game by three points in the closing seconds. Madison, the 1977 state Class A champion, went on to finish fourth in the state last season. Venice, the 1975 Class A crown-wearers, stayed home during "March Madness."

But it's a new season. And what a season. Venice made Madison its 1-0 on the season after a season-opening trouncing of usually-tough Mounds-Meridian nearly two weeks ago. Venice is 0-3, after dropping all its games last weekend in the East St. Louis Thanksgiving Tournament.

But don't let that fool you. Madison coach Larry Graham isn't. "They (Venice) will be tough," he said. "They played three good teams in that tournament and played them tough. I think it'll be a good game."

Venice-Madison games usually are. To understate the fact, last season the two teams met three times. Madison won all three games, but never by more than three points. "I think we'll give 'em a game of it," said Venice coach Ken Perkins. "These kids on both teams know each other. Most of them have grown up playing basketball with or against each other. No matter what the records of the two teams are in a Venice-Madison game, it's usually a pretty good game."

Tip-off time at Venice High's gym is set for 8 p.m., following the junior varsity game that is set for 6:30.

In other games this weekend, Granite City North and South will both be in action Friday and Saturday nights. North is still reeling from the 91-45 shelling it took last Friday against Roxana in its season-opener, will be on the road both nights. Friday, the Steelers visit Gateway East, while Edwardsville for a conference tie. Saturday, they travel to Alton for a non-conference game.

Granite City South, 0-3 at the Mount Vernon Turkey Tournament last weekend, won't see its road get any easier. The Warriors will play a pair of home games this weekend. Friday, they host GEC rival Belleville Althoff. Saturday, they'll play Belleville West, which already has two victories under its belt. Last weekend the Maroons shot down Mascoutah 76-63 and came from behind to topple Centralia 83-67.

Salukis romp to easy win

CARBONDALE — The SIU-Carbondale basketball Salukis ran their record to 2-1 on the season here last night with a 91-77 victory over Division II power Sienna Heights.

The Salukis, who led 47-37 at halftime, were led in scoring by 6-11 center Rod Camp who scored 26 points. It was by far Camp's best showing of the season. Last season, he was forced to sit out the campaign because of a discrepancy in his junior college transcript.

Camp was followed by Charles Nance who pumped in 20 points.

The Salukis' leading scorer so far this season, Olney sophomore Darnell Jones, scored only 12 points. He had been averaging 18.5 points per game through the first two contests. His high for the season thus far came in the Salukis' 92-80 loss to Tulane when he pumped in 21 points. SIU-Carbondale's other victory this season was a 69-67 upset win over Metro Conference power Memphis State in the Mid-South Classic.

The Salukis' scoring was rounded out by Scott Russ with 11 points, Charles Moore with 10, Carl Morris with 10 and Jak Kiliatt with two. Former Carbondale High School star, Johnny Fayne, who transferred to SIU as a sophomore from Dodge City Junior College, started but did not score. Sienna Heights was led by Rod Everage who had 24 points.

SIU-C had 37 field goals to Sienna Heights' 32.

The Salukis' next game will be this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when they host the University of Charleston (West Virginia) at the SIU Arena.

McKendree surprises

ST. LOUIS — The McKendree College Bearcats, led by Dale Haverman's 17 points, upset the St. Louis University Billikens here last night at the Checkerdome, 64-55.

McKendree, an NAIA school from Lebanon that had a 22-9 record a year ago, fought back from a 34-28 halftime deficit to beat the Bills, who are an NCAA Division I school competing in the tough Metro Conference.

"We'd heard how tough Division I is," said

McKendree's 5-9 guards Rod Herrin, who prepped at Benton (Ill.) High under his father, Rich Herrin. "We knew what they did against Williams Jewell (a 40-point St. Louis victory). We didn't think that would happen to us."

BIG 4 CHEVROLET

Steelers open season with win over East

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record

GRANITE CITY — Just about a year ago, the Granite City North wrestling squad used its lower weight class to claim a road victory over Belleville East. The two clubs met Tuesday and the only thing that changed was the location of the match.

The Steelers opened up the 1980-81 season at home before an almost full house and the faithful onlookers were not disappointed. The Steelers claimed a 35-21 victory.

The method North went about defeating Belleville East a year ago was virtually identical Tuesday. The Steelers used their strength early to build up an lead. A margin that had to last them throughout the match because after the 119 pound class, the Lancers wrestled even up with North.

Freshman Greg Nemeth at 98 pounds and Senior Gerald Miller at 119 started the season off on the right foot. Tom bad that foot only touched the mat to shake hands. In seemingly tireless matches, both wrestlers were given forfeits and the Steelers, even before the match had begun, were ahead 12-0. Miller, not wanting to waste a week of practice, wrestled an exhibition match and was still a winner as he pinned his man in the first period.

"It would have been a lot better if they (Nemeth & Miller) would have had an valid match," said Steele head coach Walt Whitaker. "It would have helped them get into the swing of things. For them, that whole week of practice was a waste. Especially if you had to cut weight from the holidays."

The North margin was increased to 18-0 when Senior Mike Robinson had little trouble with his opponent at 105 pounds. Robinson was rolling so good at 15-2 that his five near falls during the

Whitaker is pleased

GRANITE CITY — Walt Whitaker had to feel good about his squad's performance Tuesday night. The Granite North wrestling team opened up the 1980-81 campaign with a solid 35-21 win over Belleville East. The Steelers are now 1-0 but it was the Lancers fourth meet of the season.

"We looked fairly good except in the upper weights," said Whitaker, "but we have time to correct our mistakes." It was in that area that North was having its problems. Taking the first five weight classes, the Steelers wrestled dead even with Belleville in the next eight matches. They were even pinned twice in two upper weight battles.

"We didn't accomplish some basic fundamentals," said Whitaker. "We were too high on our opponents and didn't have good control when we were on top." This was evident when North was victimized for six escapes and two reversals which accounted for all four of the Steelers losses.

In fact, one very quick reversal resulted in one of the pins by Belleville. "I usually try to get the wrestler right after his match and point the mistakes," said Whitaker. "If he gets pinned right away, I try and tell him some of the things he could have done. But, if it's a long match and he gets pinned, I usually leave him alone. There's always practice to talk with him."

Despite maybe the first meet jitters, Whitaker was pleased with the Steelers' aggressiveness on the mat. "We went for the pin fairly well," said Whitaker.

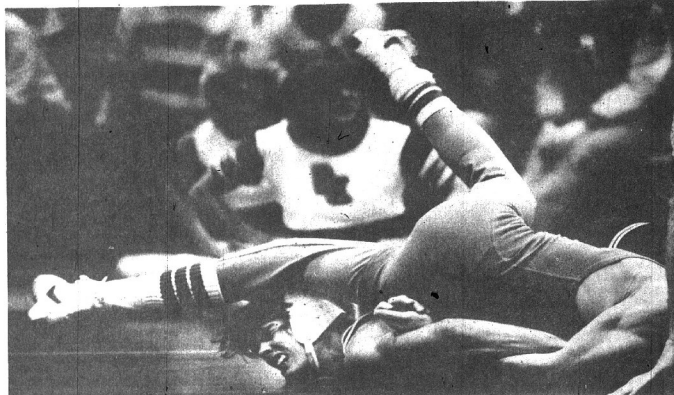

Twelve near falls were obvious of North's intentions. It ended in four Steele wins and the only pin by a North wrestler. The pin total could have been higher, but, again, it was the faller to execute another fundamental. Whenever the Steelers had a Lancer grappler in trouble and on his back, most, if not the whole bench, including Whitaker and some fans, were yelling at the arch of his back. "Sometimes you can do it and sometimes you can't," said Whitaker.

The couple of pins by Belleville certainly made the score closer than it could have been, but Whitaker was prepared for that. "I think, we got as much out of this match as I thought we could," said Whitaker.

The Steelers might have to come up with a little more to handle the action this weekend. Taking on a good DeSmet squad tomorrow, North will then battle another tough Belleville West team at Collinsville along with the Kahoks and Edwardsville Saturday.

—TOM SCHOCKER

MIKE ROBINSON of Granite City North is in a bad way here in his bout Tuesday with Belleville East's Jeff Arendell. Robinson, however, was able to reverse the situation and eventually won the bout. His teammates also came through and the Steelers defeated East 35-20 in their first match of the season at the Steelers' gym.

Gators grab wins

GRANITE CITY — The Grigsby Junior High Gators wrestling and basketball teams started off their season in winning fashion Tuesday.

The Gator basketball team traveled to Webster Junior High (Collinsville) and came away with wins in both the seventh and eighth grade games. Aided by making 17 of 22 free throws, the eighth grade won 41-34. High Scorers for Grigsby were Derek Merz with 13 points, David Baggett eight, and Kurt Hylla and Scott Cant with six each.

Scott Cookson pulled the seventh grade out with a shot taken with no time showing on the clock at the end of overtime. Final score was 32-31.

Grigsby's wrestlers defeated Collinsville 39-36 in a meet held at Grigsby. Winning on points was David Tindall. Winning by pin were Jeff Scott, Mark Whitaker, Donnie Hemphill, Stanley Jackson, Chris Coyle, and Ricky Hill.

Grigsby's eighth grade basketball team traveled to Madison Tuesday and came away with a 32-32 double-overtime victory. Sparking the Gator's attack was Derek Merz with 17 points. Also contributing to the scoring was David Baggett and Scott Cant with five points each. Kurt Hylla with four, and Shane Cole adding two.

In a losing effort the seventh grade scored 26 to Madison's 35. High scorer for the seventh grade was Mark Bowen with 14.

Atthoff rebuilding

BELLEVILLE — Tom Simpson is hyped up. He's ready. Fired up.

"So what," you ask. Every high school coach, no matter what sport, is optimistic before the season starts. Simpson's case is unusual. The head wrestling coach at Belleville Atthoff, Simpson is beginning his fifth season at the Crusaders' reins. And he's got some pretty inexperienced athletes.

To tell Simpson that he's in a rebuilding season would be like throwing salt on a wound. "We're not rebuilding, we're starting from scratch," said Simpson. "We have a lot of freshmen, but they're so talented that I would be selling them just short if I would say we were rebuilding."

As a new coach, Simpson has the big task of building a new system and new faces. He completed that the easiest way he knew how. "I have never coached wrestling before," said Simpson. "I've been a wrestler so the players will probably know a little more than me. I just leveled with them on the first day of practice and told them what to expect."

Simpson wasn't thrown into an entirely bad situation, either. The Crusaders return their three captains, Seniors Mark Schmidt and Joe Lillis and Junior Jeff Hemmer. "Schmidt is a very talented wrestler," said Simpson. "but there is nobody to push him. Hemmer is our heavyweight and Lillis was on the state football team."

In fact, Simpson, like the basketball coach, had to deal with a lack of players due to the football playoffs. "Four of our starters were on the football team," said Simpson. "It was a pain when this weekend because three of them were winning their matches and just ran out of gas in the third period. I'm really looking forward to having a full team."

Two other grapplers Simpson can count on during the season are Juniors Guy Douglas and Bob Herbert.

Douglas has a broken hand at the present time, but these two are Simpson's standout juniors.

Besides one sophomore, Donnie Lillis, Atthoff will be starting six freshmen, which for Simpson is a blessing more than a burden. "It makes me feel so good when the freshmen win," said Simpson. "Within the team, it's just like when a senior would win. What I did, was to give each captain a group of freshmen. They were responsible for their conduct and to help them along."

Simpson plans to count heavily on those freshmen to bring the team along. They have already helped in gaining their only win of the season over Carbondale. Atthoff has also lost to East St. Louis and Edwardsville giving them a 1-2 record.

"We'll be alright at the end of the season," said Simpson. "I want them to learn and they'll learn the hard way."

With the slate of teams on the Crusader schedule, taking the hard way may be the only way. But Simpson will be leading his squad into every match with authority.

"I'm not from around here," said Simpson. "I know how tough Belleville West and the Granite City school are. In fact, West beat us last year 67-0. They might do that again this year, but I'll tell you one thing, they'll know we were on the mat."

The only problem Simpson foresees in the future is discouragement on behalf of the freshmen. "They'll get their knuckles," said Simpson. They work hard. As a team, we may not do well, but on any given night, it might be our night. I know it's early, but one match might turn the season around. It will put us over Belleville East and closer to West, North and South. That's all I'm trying to do."

Simpson added that he won't ask for anything from his wrestling squad. "I'll prepare them," said Simpson. "I just hope they prepare themselves."

Congratulates Warriors

Dear Editor:

First, I would like to congratulate the Granite City South soccer team on winning their fifth consecutive state soccer title and for their superior season. No team in the state has accomplished everything Granite South has with soccer. They have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt they are No. 1 in the Midwest (Missouri, Indiana and Illinois).

Second, Coach (Gene) Baker is one of the most magnificent, superb, excellent and victorious coaches in the United States. There are no words that really can do him justice. Everyone who knows him knows exactly what I mean. Coach Baker is one great person, ask anyone who has been coached or taught by him, he has the respect of all.

Third, just to clarify for most readers who don't know much about Granite City, it is an industrial town with mostly middle class people. Well as tough kids who have had to scrap, from the wrong side of the tracks, we will stay here. Granite City South's soccer team is number one in the state of Illinois (for five consecutive years) has broken every record possible. No one will probably ever break this, and certainly will never be able to take all of this away from anyone from Granite City South. People may try cheap shots, but Granite City South sticks together, as in our hearts and just face it, it may be a way of life. Because now we are shooting for SIX.

Thank you,
Lisa K. Steele

P.S. I would like to thank the Granite City Press-Record for the articles. But this year you outdid yourself. The scrapbook piece was magnificent. THANKS.

Champs returning to state net finals

BLOOMINGTON — Freeburg and Oak Park-River Forest, last year's champions of Class A and Class AA, respectively, head the eight-team fields in each class advancing to Horton Fieldhouse on the campus of Illinois State University this weekend for the 7th Annual Illinois High School Association (IHSA) Girls State Final Volleyball Tournament.

Freeburg, winner last year in Class A in a three-game match against Elmhurst (Immaculate Conception), carries a 26-5 record into the Midstate quarter final match of the day. In the other quarterfinal matches: Marseilles (22-3) meets Tolono (Unity) (30-5) at 9:00 a.m.; Quincy (Notre Dame) (31-0) battles Staunton (28-2) at 10:30 a.m.; and Elmhurst (Immaculate Conception) (21-3) tangles with Princeton (19-4) at 2:00 p.m.

Thursday's winners advance to the semifinals Friday night at 7:00 and 8:30. The third place and championship match will be played Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

Oak Park-River Forest (28-5), gunning for a third straight title, opens defense of its crown against Chicago Public League Champion Chicago (Morgan Park) (18-1) at 10:30 a.m.

Friday in the second Class AA quarterfinal match. In the opener, Belleville (Althoff) (29-5) faces Orland Park (Sandburg) (31-2) at 9:00 a.m. Friday. The third quarterfinal match features unbeaten Chicago (Mother McAuley) (33-0) against Arlington Hts. (Forest View) (30-4) at 2:00 p.m.

The last match in the quarterfinals pits Sycamore (20-7) against Springfield (Sacred Heart) (39-2) at 3:30.

The Class AA semifinals will be conducted Saturday morning beginning at 9:00. The third place and title matches are scheduled for Saturday night, with the third place match starting at 7:00 p.m.

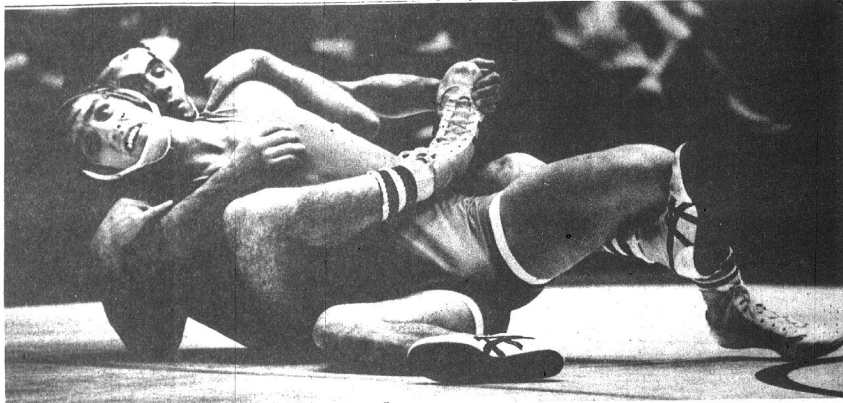

The Class AA championship match is scheduled to be televised on a delayed basis by sports stations on the IHSA Television Network, marking the first time in the history of the sport in Illinois that a match will be televised.

Frank Bussone and Bonnie Beach will be handling the play-by-play and commentary on the telecast. Bussone is a regular member of the IHSA Network broadcasting football, basketball and volleyball each at New Trier High School in Winnetka.

Tickets for each session of the three-day 16-match extravaganza will be on sale at the Horton Fieldhouse ticket windows at a price of $3.00. Each session consists of two matches. Class season tickets are priced at $12.00 each, and will be available only on the day of the quarterfinals in each class.

Last year, Freeburg beat Elmhurst (Immaculate Conception), 20-10, 6-20, 20-11, for the small school title. Oak Park-River Forest won the large school crown with a 20-10, 20-18 win over Oak Forest. A year ago, IHSA schools played the 20-point game, but the experimental rules were abandoned this season and competition is conducted according to the 15-point game concept in the National Federation of State High School Association Rules Book.

Oak Park-River Forest became the first school in Class AA (for schools with enrollments of 751 or more) to win back-to-back titles last December. The Huskies under Coach Shirley Redmond captured the 1979 title with a 20-10, 20-2 win over Rolling Meadows (H.S.). In 1977

Cahokia looking for bodies

GEC Preview

of the Press-Record

CAHOKIA — Rebuilding a prep wrestling team can be hard. Rebuilding from scratch is even tougher.

Cahokia head coach Russ Baum knows what it's all about. He's faced with it this year. But Baum's not singing the blues.

"I think this will be a very enjoyable season," said Baum. "I'm not putting any pressure on myself or the kids." The Comanches lost nine senior starters from an impressive 17-3 squad of a year ago. A team that lost only to Granite City North and South and Belleville West.

He's forced to start four sophomores. Only three starters have returned for the 1980-81 season. "I'd say you'd have to call this a rebuilding year," said Baum. "We are very young."

What little experience

Baum does have will have to be considered the nucleus of the Comanche team. Back for Cahokia is Phil McIntyre, Bobby McDaniel and Keith Cruise. The latter hopes to be Baum's mainstay on the squad. He compiled a 40-6 record last year. "Cruise, I think, is one of the best wrestlers in the Metro-East area," said Baum. "The other seniors are just very hard workers."

The Comanches also have Tom Bradshaw and Mike York with some experience. "We hope to show some improvement this year," said Baum. "When you have the inexperience like we do, there is no other way to go, but up."

Baum connects the lack of wrestling talent to the lack of interest. "Wrestling isn't a big thing down here," said Baum. "The people in Granite City don't realize that we don't have the junior high programs to build on like they do. I'd just like to see a mat for the kids to roll on."

Finding good "wrestling sense" is a never-ending battle for Baum. "It's something he has to deal with every season. It happens every year that we have to start from scratch," said Baum. "The football coach has helped by sending a few players to come out. Sometimes, most of the juniors and seniors that first come out, end up doing a good job."

Doing a job is what it will take for the Comanches to combat their schedule. "Our schedule is fairly difficult," said Baum. "We go up against everyone in the Metro-East area and a few of the tough schools in St. Louis. We won't give the Granite or Belleville schools much of a match or even Roxana, but we'll be competitive with the rest. Come sectional time and the end of the year, we'll have our two or three wrestlers that will make it to state."

Troop 7 holds honor court

Boy Scouts Troop 7, of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, held their Fall Court of Honor last week at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph's School.

Assistant Senior Patrol Leader, Richard Schierling, planned and hosted the event.

Each Court of Honor is planned and hosted by a scout of the Troop. This meets a requirement for the Communication merit badge and gives the scout an opportunity to share in the program of the troop.

Program for Court of Honor Fall 1980, included: campfire skits by each patrol and leadership corps.

Scoutcraft demonstrations: Quartermaster Reuben Garcia demonstrated the patrol method for washing dishes at camp and junior assistant scoutmaster, Mark Mainridge, under the Physical Fitness theme, gave a talk on personal fitness.

The movie, "Go Scouting" was shown and Senior Patrol Leader Steve Kusmierczak Jr., a recent winner (first place) in the Catholic Schools' speech meet-treated the scouts and parents and guests to his speech "Scratch."

Troop committee member Steve Kusmierczak Sr., presented Karl Markovich Jr., the merit badge pet.

Advancement awards. Scout Tony Jordan was presented a First Class Scout Advancement award.

Senior Patrol Leader Steve Kusmierczak Jr. in behalf of the scouts of Troop 7, awarded the Troop's Hall of Fame. Spirit of Scouting award to the ladies of St. Joseph's Altar Society.

Steve Kusmierczak announced that the Altar Society of St. Joseph's donated to the troop three Remaco's stoves (one for each patrol) to use on camping trips.

Scoutmaster Robert Manzer, MSF stated that Troop 7 will be attending summer camp at Camp May in the Beaumont Scout Reservation during the week of June 14. Camp May is one of four summer camps operated by the St. Louis Area Council.

Young students learn about pilgrims

PEOPLE

First Thanksgiving recalled

The afternoon kindergarten class of Mrs. Ellen Voyles at Marshall School was given the opportunity to experience first-hand some of the customs and foods of the pilgrims who first celebrated Thanksgiving Day four centuries ago.

The 26 children in the class, many dressed as pilgrims and Indians, had the unique experience of churning butter, top left photo, which was part of the every-day routine during the time of the pilgrims which we now take for granted.

After the baking of the cornbread, members of the class enjoyed a taste of the bread with the butter they had made along with a carton of milk, top right photo.

The Thanksgiving Day holiday not only meant a vacation from school for the children, but also the chance to learn how their ancestors lived and the types of food they ate.

Choosing the home of your lifestyle

By GLEN VISSERING
President, Home Builders Association of Illinois

There's more to choosing a home than making sure the foundation is sound and the price affordable. If you hate to putter you won't be happy with a five bedroom house on a two-acre lot, no matter how nice the house.

Drive around a neighborhood you're considering at several different times of day. Question residents and local officials. Don't be shy. Remember you'll be spending a lot of time in your new home — it is important that you be satisfied.

The following checklist can help you determine if a new house or condominium is the right one for you.

Shopping — Are there adequate facilities nearby? Are prices within your budget?

Churches — Are they available and convenient? Neighbors — Are they likely to be compatible with your tastes and lifestyle?

Schools — Are schools accessible? Do they provide a quality education?

Recreation facilities and clubs — Do local facilities suit your leisure activities? Check with the local Chamber of Commerce and the city or county recreation department.

Police and fire protection — Are they adequate for the area?

Hospital — Is there a hospital or medical center nearby for emergency care? Hazards — Are there hazards such as nearby gas or oil tanks and streams that might overflow?

Traffic — Will streets be busy or quiet? Does the speed limit suit you?

Parking — Are parking spaces and garage facilities adequate for your needs and those of your guests?

Transportation — Is public transportation adequate and handy?

Landscaping — Is the land well drained? Has proper landscaping been done to prevent erosion?

Trash and garbage disposal — Are collection arrangements frequent enough? Do you pay for the service or is it included in your taxes?

Community zoning regulations — Do community zoning regulations prohibit hanging a clothes line or building a fence? How about building additions? Is your neighborhood strictly residential or is commercial development allowed?

Master plan — Check the city master plan. Is a new highway planned right behind your house?

Privacy — Are lots or units arranged to suit your family lifestyle?

Water — Is there a reliable and drinkable source of water with adequate pressure to fit present and future community needs? You can test water pressure by turning on the taps and then flushing the toilet.

Sewage disposal — Is the sewage disposal system reliable and does it meet present and future community needs?

Property taxes — Check with city or county offices to find out how fast property taxes have risen over the past few years.

Special assessments — Are there special assessments covering a portion of the lot, street, or community developments costs which will mean added monthly charges to you for a specified number of years?

Old house, new house, townhouse, condominium — Do you want the joys of putting in an old house, fixing up the yard? Do you want a small yard without too much work? Would you rather live in a condominium with tennis courts, a swimming pool and no maintenance?

Parking lot injury — Myrtle F. Burton, 37, of 106 Troeckler Lane, Mitchell, sustained minor injuries at 4 p.m. Tuesday in a parking lot collision at 3401 Nameoki Road. She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. There was damage to the left front of her eastbound car and the front of the southbound auto of Kate Hester, 2125 Edison Ave.

Hospital — Is there a hospital or medical center nearby for emergency care? Hazards — Are there hazards such as nearby gas or oil tanks and streams that might overflow?

Traffic — Will streets be busy or quiet? Does the speed limit suit you?

A felony charge of retail theft was added Monday to charges of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct against Paul Skyhorse Johnson, 35, of the 1800 block of Cleveland Blvd., in connection with an incident Sunday at the Kroger Food Store, 3401 Nameoki Road, in which he allegedly pushed a cart of groceries out of the store without paying for them. He also allegedly resisted police at the scene, threatened their lives and refused to pay for the groceries.

Varieties of family patterns

By LILLIAN B. RUBIN
We often hear that major changes are occurring in the American family, or that the family is declining in importance in our national and personal life.

Such sweeping generalizations should be met with skepticism. For now, as always, there is no single family form that can be described as "the" American family. We are as varied in our families as in any aspect of our national life.

The form a particular family takes depends on many factors, such as ethnic background, social and geographical mobility, and religious beliefs.

One important, though often overlooked, source of variation in families is social class.

Despite the persistent mobility myth in America—that we can all "pull ourselves up by our bootstraps" if only we have the will and the wit—the social class into which we were born shapes not only our experiences and our view of the world, but what we expect from it. And the class into which we were born generally is the class to which we will marry and live out our lives.

SOCIAL CLASS AND VALUES

Ask a woman in a working-class family what she values most about her husband, and she will, mostly likely, quickly tick off three attributes: "He's a steady worker; he doesn't drink; he doesn't hit me."

Some who read those words will scoff and wonder: "Where is the woman who speaks like that in this modern age?"

Others will know, with a sure knowledge that comes from a shared experience, that she isn't a figure from another time or an alien place.

That shared experience includes having grown up in a family where father worked intermittently in low-paying, low-status, low-skill jobs.

Mother may have cleaned other people's kitchens or clerked in a five-and-dime store, struggling with a full day's work on the job and another day's work in the home at night.

Sometimes father worked steadily, sometimes not. Always, however, especially during his long periods of unemployment, the threat of violence hung over the house as father hid his pain under a drink and acted out his frustration inside the family.

But how do we know that sobriety, steadiness, or nonviolence are class-related values? Isn't there drinking and violence in middle-class families as well?

Of course! Yet, in a recent cross-class study of families with young children, not one wife in a professional middle-class family mentioned these attributes.

They focused instead on the emotional tone of the marriage—the intimacy and communication they share—and on the comforts and prestige their husband's occupation brings.

Financial security, which they take for granted, helps to compensate them for the worst aspects of a violent man or one who drinks.

In contrast, in working-class families, even when a man is earning a reasonably good living, financial insecurity is always a threat to the future.

Consequently, when asked what they would do if they suddenly inherited a million dollars, working-class women and men answered with regularity: "I'd pay off my bills."

No one in the professional middle class even mentioned their bills—not because they don't have any, but because, in their mid-thirties, they are on the first rung of a long career ladder, and rising incomes are assured.

At the same stage of life, working-class men are at the top of their short career ladders.

Increased earnings can be anticipated only insofar as union negotiations are successful—increases that usually barely match inflation. Being paid-up, therefore, is a fit subject for fantasy.

WORK AND FAMILY.
The work a man does—which effectively defines his family's social class—influences family life well beyond immediate economic realities.

For the working-class man, for example his work life and family life are distinctly separate.

For the middle-class professional however, the boundary is looser, more penetrable. His family often is an adjunct to his work.

His wife entertains his business associates. The important deal often is started, if not finished, in the living room.

Indeed, in considering a man for an executive position, many companies interview his wife to be sure she will represent the corporate image adequately.

In addition, the professional man's work brings many rewards. It is intrinsically interesting while also offering high pay, prestige, and a sense of power and authority. When he speaks, others listen.

In comparison, working-class jobs—in a factory, a warehouse, a packing plant, a refinery—offer little if any reward apart from the paycheck.

They are low in status, work conditions often are unpleasant, the work itself boring and physically grueling. And who listens when the factory worker speaks?

Perhaps only in the family does the working-class man enter a world where he will be heard. There, because he is "head of the household," he can exercise power, demand obedience, insist that his wishes be respected.

And his wife, sensitive to the dilemmas that face her man—the blocked aspirations, the chronic pain and nagging sense of failure that are the hallmarks of the "hidden injuries of class"—tends to submit in a vain attempt to restore his bruised ego.

He won't let me," she will say often. "Your father knows best," she will remind her children—not because she is docile or passive, but because she understands that nowhere else can her husband experience himself as a person "worth" listening to.

The professional man is confident in his authority both at work and at home. Thus, he need not rely on an arbitrary authoritarianism to win his way.

Moreover, since his wife's social skills are valued asset in his work, he must allow her a greater measure of freedom. He cannot so easily "tell" her what she can and cannot do.

Does this mean that middle-class marriages are more egalitarian than those in the working class?

The picture is mixed. Certainly, the ideology of equality is most often expressed in the middle class. But there frequently is a gap between ideology and behavior.

One recent study of families in which both mother and father work, for example, reports that middle-class husbands "say" they believe in sharing household chores and child care. But they don't actually "do" much of it.

In working-class families, on the other hand, men often express highly conventional views about the division of labor. But in fact, when their wives are at work, they often prepare meals, clean up, and get the children off to school.

TEACHING — THE CHILDREN

Child-rearing practices and educational philosophy also reflect class differences.

Thus, professional middle-class parents, assuming that their children will do work like theirs—work that calls for initiative, flexibility, creativity, and sensitivity to others—raise their children with great concern for developing those skills, and call for an educational system that fosters them as well.

Working-class parents, too, assume that their children will work at jobs comparable to their own, jobs in which creativity and initiative are not expected and often not desired.

Those who work at such jobs may need, above all, an iron-willed discipline to keep them at their jobs day after day, year after year.

Understandably, then, such families stress emotional control, respect, and orderliness in their child rearing, especially for the boys who will hold those jobs. And they demand that schools reinforce those qualities.

Thus does work performed outside the home touch the core of life inside.

Whether in child-rearing practices, in educational philosophy, even in the relations among family members, common experiences create common problems which, in turn, lead to common adaptations. This is the stuff of which culture is born. And so long as the social and economic realities of class exist, we can expect such subcultural variations in family life to persist.

Youth sees first snowfall

It was the first snow 17-year-old Gerry Yabut has ever seen as he left a scout meeting Wednesday.

Yabut is a Rotary exchange student, attending GCHS South, and is a citizen of the Philippines, where there is no snow.

Yabut is a member of Law Enforcement Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110 of the Police Benevolent and Protective Association.

Upon leaving the Explorer meeting at about 10 p.m. Wednesday, Gerry and the other Explorers found a heavy snow cover.

Community center offers $1 a month memberships

"Dollar-A-Month" memberships to the Salvation Army Corps Community Recreation Center on East 23rd Street are now being offered to enable more local youths to take advantage of the center.

The previous membership plan of $5 a year and 25-cents each time the center is used also is available.

Briarcliff area did not protest drainage project

Residents of the Briarcliff area have not protested a drainage program that would involve a holding pond in the "hobo jungle" area at the end of Yale Avenue, but objections have come mainly from residents in the vicinity of the holding pond, it was reported Tuesday.

Briarcliff residents said they want a drainage plan in the area and hope the city engineering office will be able to work out a plan that will be satisfactory to all.

The North Granite City drainage program is expected to get underway immediately, weather permitting, but that project has been separated from the Briarcliff plan, according to Monroe Brewer, city engineer. No plan has yet been worked out to drain the Briarcliff area.

The North drainage project will be financed with Community Development funds, as the Briarcliff work would have been.

Century 21 ROYCE REALTY

2862 MADISON AVE. 876-5050

Do you know why we say, "Selling a house is easy, keeping it sold is tough?"

More than 50% of all home sales have major closing problems. 50%!
 That's why CENTURY 21 Neighborhood Professionals are trained to concentrate on follow-through. No paperwork detail is too small, no processing or financial procedure too unimportant to escape our scrutiny.

Our aim is to make sure your sale closes on time and you get all you expect. We call it "Seller's Peace of Mind."
 We put it all in writing in an agreement called the Action Worksheet. And when we back it up with the most important agreement of all: A Handshake. We mean what we say. Let a Neighborhood Professional sell your house. And keep it sold.

At CENTURY 21, We'll Give Our Word To You.

Chapman applies for judge
Charles Chapman of Granite City, whose term of office as a circuit judge expired Monday, has applied for one of four vacant circuit judgeships, he announced Monday morning.
Chapman was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court in November, 1979, to fill the circuit judge position vacated by Judge William Petty, who became a U.S. district judge.
Chapman then was defeated in his bid for election to retain that post in primary balloting against Circuit Judge A.A. Matosian of Granite City. Matosian and Chapman now exist among the eight circuit judge positions, including two caused by Judges Victor Moscoe and John DeLaurente failing to win the necessary 60 percent of the votes in the general election last month needed for retention. Both have applied for appointment by the Supreme Court to their seats.
Former Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, who lost to Republican Don Weber in the general election, also has applied for a circuit judgeship.
Also mentioned as a possible candidate for one of the vacancies is Associate Judge George Moran Jr. of Granite City, son of the former Appellate Court Judge George Moran Sr.
Associate Judges Philip Patrick and P.J. O'Neal and John W. Day also have been mentioned as possible candidates.
Chief Justice Joseph Goldensher of the Illinois Supreme Court would traditionally suggest the candidates to be appointed to vacant circuit judgeships.
Holiday theme at Round Table
The Uniwah District Boy Scout Roundtable staff met at the home of Roundtable Commissioner Verne Thorne to complete holiday plans.
In attendance were: Ted Scrump, Leroy Stark and Zane Thorne, who served on the Roundtable staff.
The second annual Christmas party will be held at the Uniwah Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, on Tuesday, Dec. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m.
A Christmas program has been prepared and Santa Claus will make an appearance to help celebrate, according to Mrs. Thorne.
Scoutmasters, troop committeemen, spouses and guests are invited to the holiday Roundtable event.
"There are many good things in store for all so please mark your calendar and join in the fun with other scouts and friends," Mrs. Thorne said.
There will be a dessert table, travelogue to the Holy Land with slides, plus some old-fashioned Christmas fun and frolic.
Parking is on the church lot on Madison Avenue across from fire station and Post Office. Those attending would use parking lot entrance to Fellowship Hall.
